THIS & THAT

BY H. L. D.

Stu Reynolds found the owner of the stray dog that wandered into his place last week. Though all the clues, license tag and phone number on his collar, pointed to his being a long way from home, the owner lives just a couple of miles down the road from Stu's place. He reported that the owners and the dog were very happy in the reunion and he thought the case closed, but last Monday morning the big boxer was back at Stu's for another visit! Got attached to the family I guess.

Well, steelhead season has started and we are back at our old stand at the dining room window watching the success or failure of those trying the bar on the south side of the Skagit. First fisherman we saw opening day landed one and we started the season off with a winner. Several boats were on the river, and looking off up the river at one we thought someone had gotten smart and put a small tent up in the boat to keep the heavy rain off. When we got the glasses out we found that it was just a big man with lots of warm clothes on and on top of that a big bright yellow slicker around his shoulders. He needed it.

As much as we try to pretend that Christmas is still weeks away because we are not nearly ready for the big day, we are jarred out of our dreams everyday by some sign of more energetic people. Last week we began to lose our illusions when a Christmas tree appeared in the apartment window of the Brommer's. Then Thursday we recieved our first Christmas card. Friday we made a trip to Seattle and there everything was in the Christmas theme, trees, decorations, carols and Santas all over the place. Then back home and we found the beautiful tree at City Hall, houses decorated and some yards all decked out and because of a side trip this weekend to the hospital which interupted our shopping, we are weeks behind. We are bound to be ahead in something so here goes, Merry Christmas to you all!

The Christmas cards are beginning to come in and one we always look forward to came Monday. It was from Phil and Beada Brandner, whom many of you know through his trips up here in connection with the Forest Service. They are once again in Bellingham, their old home town. Their attractive card shows a car pulling a trailer and we find they have traveled extensively this past year. Phil, who was always interested in the valley, asked so many questions on the card it will take a letter to answer them all.

You may be interested to know that some of the type you are reading was set by Larry Montgomery, our new apprentice on the linotype. Larry started working a couple of months agao and is doing fine and we hope he will help take the load off Chuck and I, as far as typesetting is concerned as soon as he gets in a little more practice. He makes a nice addition to our small force.

Several people have called the office to find out where to contact the group who made plans for a warehouse of used furniture and clothes for the needy of the county. Here is the information. It is called United Skagit Assistance and is based in Mount Vernon. The group is in need of heavy clothing and bedding right now but can use furniture also. You may call Mrs. Martha Dobson at Edgewater 6-5291 and leave your name and address if you have articles for them. We understand they will collect. Rev. Willholland Williams is the chairman and has pledged that the donated articles will reach the families most in need of them.

Skull Story Unraveled

The possibility that the skull reported found on Finney Creek might be that of a missing Concrete resident, E. R. Mosher, was cancelled upon investigation. The skull actually had been found on Alder Creek, below the old graveyard and had apparently been washed out by the stream there.

Tree Stops Car From Long Fall On Burpee

Lawrence W. Garman of Bellingham forfeited $25.00 bail on a negligent driving charge in the local justice court this week after having driven his car off the steep Burpee Hill road about 6:00 a. m. Tuesday.

The accident occured when he fell asleep going north on the road and drove over the bank. It happily was at a point where there were lots of trees, so his car lodged against one of them about 35 feet down the slope.

Father Of Mrs. Trudell Dies In East On Visit

Howard J. Frisk, 85, father of Mrs. Fred Trudell of Marblemount and Mrs. J. W. Lightle of Arlington and Frederic Frisk of Portland, Oregon, passed away in the east on November 27th. He was on a visit in Jacksonville, North Carolina at the time.

Funeral services were held in Seattle on December 3rd. Mr. Frisk was a native of Iowa, but had made his home in Seattle since 1921.

THIRTY DAYS GIVEN IN CEDAR THEFT CASE

Alfred Clark, brother of the boy who made the local justice court last month, appeared before Judge Gilbert Martin in Concrete last night to answer to charges of theft of Forest Service cedar at Marblemount. He plead guilty to the charge of stealing some $22 worth of cedar, but as it was one of a number of similar offenses Judge Martin sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail.

This set off a storm of protest from young Clark, who had to be forcibly desposited in the local jail to cool down from his rage.

In other police news, John W. Barnes, arrested for breaking into the Eagles Club last week, has been given a week's continuance of his case while his lawyer seeks to get information from his former home in North Carolina.

Ray Singleton Infant Dies At Hamilton

The seven week old son of Mrs. Ray Singleton of Lyman was found dead in his bed at eight o'clock Wednesday morning. He had been ill for several days but had been allright when his mother checked on him twice in the night. Coroner Aaron Light said death was due to stangulation probably caused by his illness.

Tiny Micheal was born in Burlington on October 18, 1957. He is survived by his parents, a sister, Cynthia, 3½, a brother, Danny, 2½, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Holubar of Sedro-Woolley and Mrs. Sam Singleton of North Carolina.

Graveside services will be held on Friday, December 13 at 1:30 at the Union Cemetery in Sedro-Woolley.

Lions Entertain Ladies At Christmas Party

The Lion's Club annual Christmas party and ladies night was observed Wednesday evening of last week when members and their ladies enjoyed a dinner party at the Legion hall. There was a white elephant exchange followed by games and dancing.

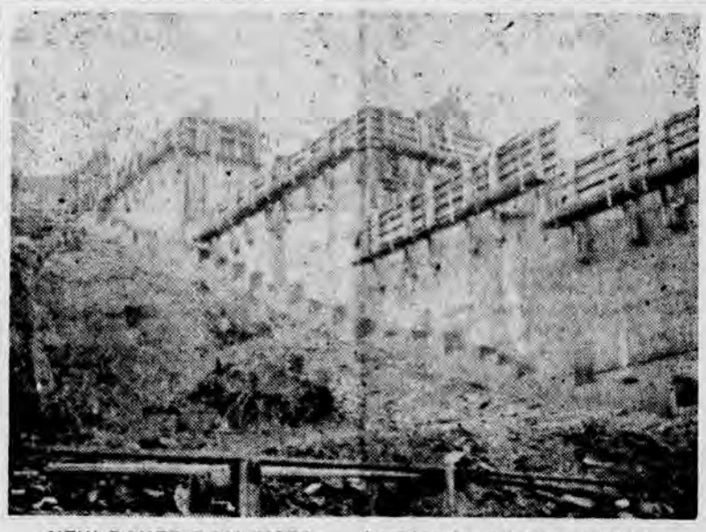
"It was neck and neck, but we beat that old stork by about five minutes." So says Don McLeod, who took Mrs. McLeod to the Rowley hospital in Mount Vernon Monday to welcome a new baby daughter.

Boy For Harold Lynches

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lynch are beaming today over the arrival of a baby boy, born at 9:00 this morning at the Memorial hospital. He weighed 9 lbs. 11 oz. and has been name Allan Mathew.

Ferry Lifeboat Taken

The rowboat carried on the ferry at Rockport disappeared from its place on the scow during the week end. Report of the theft was made by county road foreman Seeley Miller.



NEW BAKER DAM RISES Looking for all the world like battlements of an ancient castle, segments of the new upper Baker River dam rise from solid rock high on the slope of the east bank of the river. The forms move upward for pouring of each new level.

Basketball Seasons Get Under Way With Losses

Concrete's basketball teams did not fare too well again over the week end, Concrete high school losing two close ones and the newly organized Nighthawks bowing to Darigold in their opener.

The high school dropped the first team game 38-35 to Meridian last Saturday night, but salvaged the second team game 42-40 in an overtime period. Concrete led all through the first team game but fell to a final rally by the Meridian five. The score was 9-4 at the quarter, 17-9 at halftime and 24-22 at the start of the final period.

Scoring for Concrete was fairly even. Jonson led with 9. Pressentin, Frank and Crinklaw had 7 each, Kratzer 5 and Chamness 2.

LaConner Wins 34 to 27

Against LaConner here Tuesday night it was the Braves who led all through the contest, but only by a small margin that built up to their 7 point victory. Larry Nelson of the Braves dropped in a hot 16 points for his team. Darrel Pressentin led for Concrete with 10, Jonson and Crinklaw followed with 7 each.

The Brave's second team also won their game 37 to 29.

This Friday night the team will play at Arlington and on Tuesday will go to Meridian for a return contest. Arlington will be the first league opponent.

Nighthawks Move Game

The town team game scheduled for Concrete Monday night failed to materialize when the league officials were unable to show. However a re-schedule was made and the Nighthawks went to Mount Vernon for their opener on Monday night instead.

The local boys took a 63-53 trimming to get their season under way.

In the game here last night the Nighthawks dropped Oliver-Hammer of Sedro-Woolley 61 to 45.

The official schedule for the balance of the Independent League games is as follows:

Monday, Dec. 18—Concrete vs Skagit Valley J. V.—Mt. Vernon
Monday, Dec. 23—LaConner here
Monday, Jan. 6—Anacortes here
Monday, Jan. 15—Concrete at Parkers', Mt. Vernon
Monday, Jan. 18—At Anacortes
Monday, Feb. 3—Oliver & Hammer, here
Wednesday, Feb. 12—LaConner A. C. at Mt. Vernon
Monday, Feb. 17—Skagit Plastics here
Monday, Feb. 24—Parker's, here
Wednesday, Feb. 26—Darigold, here

Local Men Fined In Mt. Vernon Police Court

The usual winter tightening up on traffic violations found a number of local cases listed in the Mt. Vernon police court during the past few weeks. Among those listed were Ernest E. Watts, Concrete, drunk driving, $200 fine, 90 days license susp., 90 days county jail; Everett Gignon, Concrete, negligent driving, $50 fine; Wayne Stafford, Rockport, negligent driving, $25 bail forfeiture; Bill Crum, Concrete, drunk driving, $75 fine, 30 day license sus., 5 days county jail, suspended.

Visit University

Virginia Christianson, Kathleen Gross, Shirley Joy, Margaret Unger and Gail Dods, of Concrete high school attended the health-sciences conference at the University of Washington last Saturday. The visiting students were taken through the Health Sciences building and saw movies and exhibits.

Chinese Students Will Visit

Yim cheng Han and Yuan kien Yang, two Chinese students studying forestry at Oregon State College, will spend a day in the upper Baker next week, visiting the new dam project and studying logging operations on the upper Baker.

Fire Dept. Re-elects A. Bianchini As Fire Chief

Armond Bianchini was again named to the position of Chief of the Concrete Volunteer Fire Dept. at their annual election of officers. Magnus Miller and Fred Bianchini were named as assistants.

Fire captains for the year will be Paul Carroll, Joe Finden, Bill Harris and Georgie George. Jack Livie will be secretary and Albert Frank, treasurer.

Use Phone For Fire Only

Chief Bianchini reports that the people of the community are getting into a bad habit in calling the Fire Dept. ring for other than fire calls. The department asks that no calls be made on 2525 except those reporting a fire or an emergency call for help.

No calls are to be made to "see where the fire is" as this ties up the lines so that no emergency calls can be made. In some cases this might result in severe fire loss.

Xmas Concert On Wednesday

Music lovers, and especially the enthusiasts who enjoy the Concrete high school concert band, will enjoy their annual Christmas musical program at the high school gym on Wednesday of next week—December 18th.

As usual it will be a combined presentation of the band and the Marblemount and Concrete grade schools. Band presents three portions of the program and the grade schools will contribute songs directed by Mrs. Dorna Roetman and Tom Hill.

The first group by the band, under the baton of director Durward Sobek, will be two marches, the Orion overture and "Londonderry Air."

In the second group the band will shift to modern melodies and present a calypso number, a bules number and two popular tunes.

The feature of the evening will be the Christmas Suite, arranged by Walters. This will cover some 1200 years of Christmas music of both old world and new. The suite will be followed by the old favorite chorale, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

The closing number on the program will be a descriptive fantasy, "The Toy Shop" with Jackie Glover as narrator.

Old Timer Of Valley Dies At Yreka, California

Word has been received of the death on November 27 at Yreka, California of Mrs. Maret Mauseth, 82. She had made her home at various times with the pioneer Lars Moen family at Van Horn, coming from Norway in 1922 and moving to Happy Camp, California in 1946 to be with her son, Bert, who still survives there.

Stores To Open Evenings Here

The "town hill" part of Main street will do something new this year for the holiday shoppers. All retail stores will remain open in the evenings, starting next Thursday, Dec. 19th and continuing Friday, Saturday and Monday.

The opening is to give more shopping time to upper valley people and those at the dam who can not always get into town by the usual closing hours. As a group the merchants feel that they can offer as varied a selection of gifts and holiday needs as any community in the county.

Children's Free Show

Working very well into the evening opening will be the free show for all children of the valley to be held at the Concrete Theatre next Thursday night, Dec. 19th. The 2-hour show will also be a part of the Eagles Family Night program of the lodge. While their parents are at the Eagles party the children under 14 will be entertained at the theatre. It is open to all children of the valley, however.

Legion Christmas Party

All Legion and Auxiliary members and families are invited to attend a Christmas party at the Legion Hall on Sunday, December 15, starting at 2:00 p. m. There will be a Santa Claus. Each adult bring a gift. Ladies bring a man's gift and men a ladies gift of appromixately $1.50 in value. Bring gifts for your own children with their names securley attached. Hope to see everyone there, the more the merrier. Please call Nellie Pulice at 5-4164 if you plan to attend.

A spaghetti dinner will be served at 2:30 p. m.

The series of Christmas parties will continue for the next two weeks and with the stores open evenings, the Fireman's Christmas tree ablaze and carols coming from loudspeakers anyone who doesn't begin to get the Christmas spirit will have to be pretty dead.

Garden Club Will Judge Holiday Decorations

The Upper Skagit Garden Club held its anuual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Shular at Van Horn yesterday with Mrs. Fred Wenrich of Marblemount as co-hostess.

During the afternoon a quartet composed of Tecla McDaniel, Alma Ross, Alice Drake and Kathleen Jones sang "Silent Night," and Tecla and Kathleen followed with "White Christmas." Group singing of carols continued the musical interlude.

During the gift exchange Mrs. Alta Ford won the prize for the best wrapped gift. She and Mrs. Buleah Seabury also were judged winners of the holiday arrangement competion.

Holiday Lane Judging

The club has announced that they will again sponsor the Christmas decoration contest for the community this year, judging to be done between Christmas and New Years on outdoor trees, yard decorations, special windows and doorways.

Call Adults Interested In Session Of Shop Class

Adult Shop classes at the high school may be held again after the first of the year if enough people are interested. This word was turned in at the Herald today by shop instructor John Gillis.

There must be from ten to fifteen signed up before the classes can be instituted. People wishing to take the class are asked to register at the high school office.

If sufficient members are secured a regular Monday night class will start shortly after the first of the year.

Fred L. May, age 73, of Bellingham passed away December 4 in a hospital in that city. Among his survivors are two sons, Dwyane D. and Clyde L. May, both of Baker Dam.

Among the recent marriage licenses granted in Seattle was one for Bjern O. Fremming, 27, of Concrete and Erna S. Totland, 24, of Seattle.

Baker River Now Confined In Tunnel

The Baker River was turned into a man-made channel Tuesday of last week, will now be under full control until the Upper Baker Dam is completed. Where the truck is working was the former river bed, which is now being excavated and stripped down to bed rock for the main base of the dam. On the right workmen are building forms for the cement sheath that will cover the rock wall on the east bank.

(This column is only meant to inform—editor)

Willy, 19 years old, was taught to drive when he was 16. His father taught him to be a careful driver, and Willy, a naturally cautious boy, never forgot what his father taught him

When he was 19 his drivers license expired. Because he had not been driving for several months and did not think that he would be driving for some time, Willy did not renew his drivers license.

One day a friend with whom Willy had been riding got sick and asked Willy to drive the friend's car. Willy knew he didn't have a driver's license,but decided to take a chance on driving without it. A few minutes later Willy was involved in an accident with another man who lost control of his car while lighting a cigarette. Willy actually had been driving carefully and the other man was at fault.

However, when the other driver asked Willy for a look at his driver's license, Willy had to admit he had no license.

"That's too bad for you," the other driver said. "You will have to pay all the damages for this accident because you were driving without a license."

Do you think Willy will have to pay for the accident? The answer is that he will not have to pay. The fact that he did not have a license did not cause the accident. The other driver's negligence was the cause of the accident, and under Washington law the other driver is liable and not Willy.

Willy had committed a crime by driving without a license, of course, and he probably would be arrested and fined. But his lack of a license was not enough to make him liable to the other driver for damages in a lawsuit.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chamness and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Menefee made a trip to Bellingham Saturday.

ST. JAMES-IN-THE-VALLEY EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Episcopal Sunday School and morning services will be held at 11:00 a.m. every Sunday morning at the Library building, with Mr. Van Arnum of Darrington in charge.

All children and adults are welcome to come and take part.

Episcopal Christmas Party

The ladies of the Episcopal Church plan a Christmas party for Sunday school children Tuesday, Dec. 17 at 5:30 at the high school cafeteria. It will be a pot luck chicken and noodle dinner followed by a gift exchange. Archdeacon Walter McNeal of Seattle will be present to give a Christmas message.

The Episcopal Bake sale is to be held this Saturday, Dec. 14th, at the Concrete Department Store.

Presbyterian Bazaar

The P. W. O. of the Mt. Baker Presbyterian Church held their annual bazaar last Saturday, Dec. 7. Again this year it was a great success. The ladies served a lunch during the middle of the day and pie and coffee was available all afternoon. The many booths were filled with all sorts of fancy work, food and gifts. The young people of the church had a candy booth and ran the fish pond. An addition this year was the music from the church tower which opened the bazaar.

The ladies of the P. W. O. wish to extend their thanks to everyone in the community who made this bazaar a success—to those who worked so hard—to those who came and supported it.

Progressive Dinner

The Young Peoples Group of the Community Bible Church were hosts Wednesday evening to the Young People of the Union Sunday Schools in Marblemount and Rockport, at a progressive dinner. Juice and crackers were served at the Dick Gardinier home, salad at the Phil Ryan home, the main course at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hornbeck and the desert at the Elmer Gustafson home.

A few men studying the logging situation from top levels report that they expect it will be two years before the industry gets over its present case of aisiatic flu. Peaks have to level off, low spots have to be firmed up—and somebody has to be persuaded that lumber is not the highest priced building material on the market. Such things take time and the process is going to be one of separating the producers from the promoters, the high-graders from the run-of-the-mill full-economy harvesters. The boom is bust.

In casting about for someone to blame for failure in one field of science very little thought has been given to spreading about a little praise for the strides we have made in peaceful adaption of man-made miracles. Our field is gadgetry, so there should be world wide acclaim for the man who perfects the car with the power ashtray. Now there is something anybody can understand and appreciate.

Big union bosses say it will ruin the country to go a year without pay raises for all workers. Maybe it is a drastic sacrifice to make to forego a strike and remain satisfied with what you have, but it looks like that would be so much better than the possibility of being laid off because labor is too expensive to buy.

Canada is further making America eat her long-standing superiority complex by announcing reductions in income taxes and other unthinkable concession to their citizens. Come to think of it, this is worse than Russia is doing to us with her sputnik.

Whatever became of the statesman-hero type of diplomat who always came up with a sensible solution? There seems to be no middle ground anywhere between the retarded view and the spectacular grab.

Special license plates will be available for Skagit county motorists next week with the prefixes MAA and MAB, only, available. There goes our hopes of getting a plate labelled MAD 1.

Christmas should have double the warm acceptance this year. It is almost the only thing left that is not is a race for modernization with somebody.

This airplane, anti-plane missle, anti-missle missle, anti-anti-missle missle deal can go on into infinity. But for the taxpayer the spelling is always ante.

The fifth amendment is certainly paying off for those who have nothing to brag about and hate to be embarrassed by telling lies.

IT'S easy to give your suede shoes a new look by brushing with a rubber suede brush while you steam them with your steam iron.

Floors which have developed white spots by having liquids spilled on them and left to dry can have these removed by wiping with liquid wax.

It's a good idea to go over the outside of your washer occasionally with a white wax cleaner and polisher in addition to the regular wiping right after washing.

Nylon mops are wonderful for cleaning floors because they pick up and retain dust, but they'll be even more useful if you get an extra head to wipe down walls or to remove the mitt from the handle and use for dusting furniture.

Need short curtains? You can make them out of odd yards of cotton remnants. Use a print for the upper tier, a solid or white that harmonizes with the lower tier, then tie the two together with matching ruffling on both tiers.

A piece of plywood to frame a window will require less material for covering than curtains.

When you're painting window frames, use masking tape around the inside edge to keep the paint off the window

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE
Pizzaburgers
(Makes 6)

1½ pounds ground beef
2 slices American cheese
6 hamburger buns, split
6 slices tomato
2 teaspoons oregano

Shape beef into 6 patties. Cut cheese into 12 strips. Fry hamburger turning once and top with strips of cheese, criss-cross style. Cook to desired doneness. Place tomato slice on each half bun, sprinkle with oregano and top with hamburger. Heat for about 3 minutes.

"OLYMPIA REPORTER"

By WNPA Correspondent

Appointment of George Prescott, 56, of Seattle, to head the the tourist development division of the State Department of Commerce and Economic Development, announced by Governor Albert D. Rosellini, shold get the state's tourist advertising and promotion off the ground with the start of the new year. Prescott leaves the Seattle Chamber of Commerce where he has been manager of the State Development Department for the last year. He has a wide knowledge of the state and the Pacific Northwest, and before going to Seattle was for seven years manager of the Ellensburg rodeo and Ellensburg Chamber of Commerce. He is a former rodeo rider and now an announcer for principal rodeo events throughout the area. The appointment should be popular with tourists and travel interests of the state with whom Prescott has been closely identified. If it is of any interest,his salary will be $10,000 a year.

The Legislative Council's subcommittee on state government will ask authority from the Council to hold a public hearing in January or February on the proposed new merit system bill which will go into the hopper of the 1959 legislature. A draft of the bill is now ready and being circulated to all state departments. Purpose of the public hearing will be to bring out all points of controversy now, and try to adjust the bill so that it will encounter a minimum of opposition after its introduction. The measure would give job protection to all the state's 16,000 workers. It would not seek to change existing merit system operation in those departments which now have their own merit systems, covering some 7,600 state employees, but would incorporate them in the overall plan.

As an example of a man who will not be discouraged, there is probably no more current instance than decision of Payson Peterson, Snohomish automobile salesman, to throw his hat in the ring for the 15th Congressional Disrict. Peterson started running in 1930. He ffled eleven times as a Republican and was nominated seven times but never elected. In 1952 he switched to the Democratic party. He will file as a Democrat next year, for the 1958 primary. Students of politics say they can find no instance of a candidate anywhere in the nation who has run more times than Peterson without being elected.

The Washington State Research Council has proposed for further consideration and discussion that the schools of the state stay open 12 months of the year. A principal argument for the plan would be to acheive greater utilization of existing classroom facilities in the face of steadily incresing school population.

It is estimated that a school with sufficient class room space for 600 students could furnish classroom space for 800 students under the year round plan, and save construction costs estimated at $400,000 for new classroom facilities for 200 students. The school year would be divided into four groups of approximately the same size. Each of the four students groups would get a three month vacation, but each group would take the vacation during a different quarter of the year.

In support of the plan, there is an acknowledged danger of the state's going to far into debt in its building program. Lloyd Andrews, state superintendent of public instruction, said recently that the state has gone deeply into debt in building new classrooms, and may be jeopardizing further school construction programs. Recently the state sold $52 million in bonds to finance construction of classrooms during the 1957-1959 biennium which brought to $142 million the amount issued by the state since 1949. The state paid off $21,369,000 of the debt. With the $187,354,000 inbonded debt of local districts that put up matching funds, the total debt is nearly $308 million or $535 per pupil.

Andrews expects the enrollment in the eight elementary grades will increase 19 percent by 1965 and enrollment in the four secondary grades will probably increase 50 percent in the same period.

As had been forecast, Governor Rosellini is taking steps to review problems of scientific and technical education in the schools of the state to see what is being done and what is needed to help meet threat of Russian emphasis on scientific education. He has invited presidents of the state's major colleges and universities to a meeting in Olympia on December 19 to clarify present status of the various institutions in their educational programs.

"It has become clear that our progress locally and nationally will depend in great part on our ability to train more and better scientists, engineers, researchers and similar personnel," said Governor Rosellini. "I want to find out what Washington's position is regarding the major schools, and what ideas our school officials can offer toward increasing progress in these fields."

When the State Legislative Council meets next month, it will receive a report on state printing from its subcommittee on state government . A special committtee has found that there is about $3,000,000 worth of printing done by the state annually, of which about $2,000,000 is classed as printing which is eligible for "farming out" on bids to commercial printers. Complaint has been made that much of this printing is being done by institutions outside the Olympia area which could be done more economically by printers in the area of the institutions. It will be recommended that changes be made in the law which would bring control of the purchase of printing and duplicating equipment by institutions under more strict supervision, and that steps be taken to make it possible to accept bids from commercial printers on a competitive basis over the entire state.

Filings will be open December 13 for candidates who will seek office in first, second and third class cities of the state, subject to the city primary elections on Feb. 11, 1958 and the final elections on March 11 next year. The last day to file is December 27. At least 251 of the state's 254 first, second and third class cities and towns will hold Spring elections in 1958. The exceptions are Olympia and Wenatchee which held elections in 1956 under the state's new simplified master plan for holding elections in even numbered years. Yakima may or may not hold an election due to outcome of a court test. Proposal to change from the commission to the council-manager form of government in Yakima is held up on a legal technicality.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Mangini spent the weekend at the home of C. W. Plunkett and family in Seattle. Mr. Plunkett is Mrs. Mangini's son, and he and his wife were observing their 12th wedding anniversary.

Congressman Jack Westland listens to Supt. Norman McKenney of the huge Stone & Webster hydo-electric project on the upper as he explains the work now under way in building the new Baker dam. It was Westland's first visit to the project and he covered the entire construction process from top to bottom, including inspection of the basin clearing job to Baker Lake.

Marblemount News

By Mrs. Francis Turner

Mel and Dorothy Wolbert went to Sedro-Woolley on Thursday to hear Senator Francis Pearson talk.

Mrs. Fritz Wenrich and Mrs. Trudell spent three days in Seattle last week while attending the funeral of Mrs. Trudell's father.

Mrs. Mabel Pressentin's sister, Mrs. Ed Pressentin, and Bert Pressentin of Rockport called on her Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wortendyke, Mrs. Edith Sloan and Irvin Lindall visited in Seattle with Damon Lindall Saturday at the Orthopedic hospital. They picked up Dorothy Lindall, who has been staying down there, and went to Tacoma where they all spent the night at the home of Mrs. Sloan's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Becker. Damon has had skin graft and will have them checked on Wednesday to see if they were successful. He hopes to be home for Christmas if all goes well. Dorothy spent a few days at home, but returned to be with him Wednesday.

Dr. Hoag of Mount Vernon was in the group that cut Christmas trees last Sunday for the Lion's Club project.

Mr. and Mrs. Olin Stafford were guests over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stafford and children.

Mrs. Neal Clark and Mrs. Wanda Eldridge attended a recognition dinner on Thursday in Mount Vernon for the 4-H Club Leaders. They both received their six-year pins.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peterson and grandson Petey were Friday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brokaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Wenrich and Linda were in Bellingham Saturday to help Bill Godde celebrate his birthday.

Mrs. Helen Scott went to Seattle on Friday to be with her mother, who has been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Merv Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Wortendyke enjoyed dinner in Seattle when they flew down on a Sunday outing.

Dal Possinger has been promoted to A 2 c, we are happy to hear. He is still stationed in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Wolbert and children were dinner guests of Mrs. Ida Wolbert in Concrete on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rawson Hornbeck called Sunday on Mrs. Sadie Cudworth and Herman Rohde.

Mrs. Margie McLeod and Mrs. Johnnie Peterson were in Mount Vernon on business Monday. While there they visited Ina McLeod and her new baby at the Rowley hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Sutton, John and Vicky of Rockport, Mr. and Mrs. Art Indahl and Terry of Hoodsport were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrus.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cook and children were here a week ago Friday from Cathlamet to visit friends in the community. While here they had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wortendyke and family. They went on from here to Whidbey Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stickney were Saturday visitors at the Worley home in Rockport.

Terry Witham visited his grandmother, Mrs. Walter Andrus, over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Andrus were guests of E. J. Witham and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrus on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin McLeod and Melvin were guests at the Worley home Saturday evening.

The Assembly of God congregation held a farewell party Tuesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Bill Clevenger and children, who will be moving sometime this week.

Bill and Martha Graham of Newhalem and Mrs. Wilson of Hamilton were Wednesday evening callers on Sadie Cudworth and Herman Rohde.

Mrs. Hazel Tracy was hostess to the canasta group on Tuesday evening. A nice luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taylor were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dolphus Stafford and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stafford and children were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Eldridge.

The Orthopedic Guild held their meeting at O'Keiffes on Tuesday with thirty-five guests present. All exchanged gifts and had a lovely lunch. There were thirty-two dolls brought in to be sent to the hospital in Seattle. The next meeting will be at the home of Ann Blankenship. The meeting was presided over by the new president, Neal Clark. It was decided to start a drive to gather the old license plates and a committee was selected to work out a program for it with Ella Mae Wright and chairman and Mrs. O'Keiffe and Mrs. Severe to help her.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Zehnder and daughter Joanne of Bellingham, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Morehouse of Seattle were weekend guests of Ed and Opal Clark. They were joined on Saturday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stafford and children, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Stafford of Rockport and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Clark and children. Edgar showed his motion pictures and they were enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Crawford and girls went to Wenatchee on business Monday, returning home the following day.

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Roetman and family visited on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrus had dinner in Bellingham Monday evening at the D. E. Chrisman home.

Otto Peterson and Al Merritt were duck hunting on the flats Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wilson of Hamilton were Saturday callers at the Cudworth home.

The demonstration of Terratrac cats on the Blankenship property brought lots of activity to the community Saturday and Sunday. Many men of the neighborhood drove the two cats demonstrated, while others just looked them over and had coffee and doughnuts. I thought I'd probably lost a son when he started driving the small one, and was relieved when they managed to get him off of it long enough to load it on the trailer for the trip back to Burlington. Ann Blankenship also ran it for a while and I went over and rode with her. It was something new and we all got lots of fun out of it.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Anderson were in Concrete on business Saturday.

IT'S YOUR HEALTH!

Prepared by the Staff of the HEALTH SCIENCES DIVISION UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

For more than a half century internal human structures have cast their shadows–in blacks and grays and whites— against X-ray films where trained eyes can see them, interpret the different shades, and take action which can preserve health and life.

Since its invention by William C. Roentgen in 1895, the X-ray has been developed into one of the best diagnostic tools known to medicine.

Its improvement mechanically and the advances in its use and widespread application have opened such dimensions that radiology now deals with the use of radiant energy in both the diagnosis and the treatment of disease.

Visible light, the kind we see, travels in waves. So does heat so do with radio waves, ultra-violet rays and others. Each is different because it has a different wave length. The rays from an X-ray machine resemble visible light, but the wave lengths of X-ray radiation are only about 1/10,000 as long as visible light waves.

Visible light can penetrate the air, or some distance into water or through glass, but not opaque materials like wood and tissue. X-rays can penetrate many substances which would either absorb or reflect light.

The X-ray is usually not used for direct viewing but for making photographic records, the image of the unseen within the body. When the X-ray beam passes through the body to a photographic plate, part of the rays will be blocked by any substance opaque to hte X-rays, such as bone.

No one can feel the passage of X-ray through the body, and there is no danger from X-ray handled by a skilled technician.

The rays in a fluoroscope are the same as X-rays, but instead of being exposed to a photographic plate they are used to outline a shadow on a screen which has been covered with a material that glows when X-rays strike it. The rays pass through the body to the screen.

In this way a physician who knows his lights and shadows can study the organs of the body actually in action. If needed beyond that, he takes a regular X-ray picture to study the plates at leisure.

X-ray movies, combining the permanence of X-ray with the movement of the fluoroscope image, are a recent new technique. University of Washington scientists were pioneers in this field and have made many important contribution ao its development. An X-ray movie of the heart in action, produced at the University, has already been shown in many parts of the United States and Europe.

Medical science will continue to use increasingly the techniques already developed for study of the unseen by the use of X-ray and other radiant energy.

CONCRETE HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Judy Pennington and Rebecca Unger

Band Concert December 18

The high school band will present its annual Christmas Concert Wednesday, the 18th of December. It will start at 8:00 p. m. and should be a very enjoyable evening for those attending. No admission will be charged. The numbers they will play are "Headliner", "Orion Overture", "Fiesta Calypso", "Londonderry Air", "Buckaroo Blues", "White Silver Sands", "Around the World", "Christmas Suite", "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring", "Winter Wonderland" and "The Toy Shop".

Sports

The Concrete Lions played Meridian here last Saturday. It was a non-league game. The B squad game ended in a tie and in the extra quarter the Lions won 42-40. The Lions lost the first team game 35-38. Both games were very exciting and close.

Tuesday the Lions played La-Conner here. They lost both games. The score of the second team game was 37-29 and the first team score was 34-27.

The Lions first league game will be played at Arlington December 13. The rooters bus will be taken to this game.

Explains Curfew Law

Gary Whitinger, the Skagit County Deputy, visited the CHS the 4th of this month to explain the proposed curfew law to the students.

G. A. A. News

The G. A. A. held a skating party at Hamilton Wednesday. All who attended had a very enjoyable time.

This Saturday six girls will attend a volleyball sportsday in Oak Harbor. This will end all volleyball activities and attention will turn to basketball.

Forest Service Party

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Krayer, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGuire, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGuire and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Barber of Concrete; Mr. and Mrs. Gene O'Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Gohlke, Keith Fagerberger and Marlene Tibbets of Marblemount; along with Forestry service people from Darrington, Glacier and Verlot attended a farewell dinner Friday night in Sedro-Woolley in honor of Les Sullivan of Bellingham. He has served there in a supervisory position for some time and is now being transfered to a similar post in Juneau, Alaska. Following a short program Mr. Sullivan was presented with an electric blanket —a very appropriate gift for anyone going to Juneau.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hooper were Saturday evening guests at the James Boury home.

The WORLD OUTDOORS

By MIKE BENNETT

A FRIEND who read a recent column about crow calling expressed surprise that the sport has acquired popularity in all parts of the nation.

Actually, the art of calling crows, or game calling in general, is nothing new. It is one of the oldest forms of hunting. The Indians were accomplished game callers long before Columbus touched on these shores. The rattling of deer antlers to simulate fighting bucks and the making of squeaking and squealing noises to attract predators are "old hat."

Today, commercial calls are available that will attract practically every species of animal. They come in all descriptions and sizes, and nearly all of them work.

Whether your goal is meat or sport, there's a commerical call made to help you get your game within shooting range. If you're after predators, there are a dozen or so calls on the market or you can get a call that will entice ducks, moose, turkeys, deer or elk. Just name it. Look in the pages of the better outdoor magazines and you'll see them all advertised.

If you have been going through life as a "still" hunter, you will be amazed at what can be accomplished with a game call. The best way to learn is to hunt with someone who has had experience calling game—preferably an expert. If this isn't feasible, you can purchase a phonograph record from the manufacturer of your call that will provide the proper sounds. With some diligent practice, you should be able to put your new skill to work in a very short time.

Unless you're interested in predators, the hunting season is over in most parts of the country. If you still have the yen to go gunning afield, take a tip that's worth a trip. Try your luck on crows, hawks and wolves.

The Royal Neighbors Christmas party will be held Wednesday afternoon, December 18 at the home of Mrs. W. S. Gregory. Dinner will be served at noon.

Post Office Open

The Post Office will be open on the Saturdays December 14 and December 21 from 8:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m. to handle Christmas mail. Monday through Friday starting December 16 to December 24 the parcel post and stamp window will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. Please mail all outgoing parcels and cards by the 17th and all locals by the 20th to insure delivery. The Post Office crew wish to take this opportunity to thank you and to wish one and all a Merry Christmas.

LOCALS

By Hermie Hollister

Mrs. Vivian Bates left Wednesday of last week for Los Angeles, California, where she will be visiting Mr. and Mrs. Neil Williams for ten days. She hopes her first grandchild will arrive there before she must return home.

Mrs. Webber of Seattle, mother of Mrs. Tom Hill, has arrived to spent a few weeks at the Hill home.

The arrival of the first Christmas cards really seems to put us all in high gear when we suddenly realize how short is the time before Christmas and how much still remains to be done.

We seem to be having a between holiday lull in news and social activity. One thing for which we can all give thanks, the shortage of news is also due to much less sickness in the community.

The Jerry Martin family have lost their dog—a large brindle with white markings. He has been gone since Thanksgiving day. If anyone has seen him, the Martin's would appreciate any information about his whereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Stearns and family and Terry Lee Thosath were visiting in Burlington Saturday.

Mrs. Lee Bundy of Mount Vernon visited Friday at the C. S. Phillips home. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Bundy moved to Dayton.

The Community Pinochle club met Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Justice.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Helland spent Sunday at Snohomish, visiting at the Sam D'Amico home.

Mrs. Art Maffl spent several days last week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McGuire, while her husband attended the student conference in Eugene, Oregon, as one of the delegates from W. W. C. E.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson and Mary Burns were Bellingham visitors Friday.

On Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mosher and Mrs. Roxy Wyatt visited Mrs. Mosher in Bellingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bullock called at the Sam Bullock home in Bellingham Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Byron of Bellingham were weekend guests at the Clarence McGuire home.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Phillips entertained Tuesday evening at a little dinner party for their daughter, Linda Meyers, on her 11th birthday. Among the guests were her grandfather, Mr. Arrowsmith, of Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Solomon spent the weekend in Chehalis, visiting the Raasinas.

Sunday dinner guests at the Leo Sallberg home were Mr. and Mrs. George Quiggle and Mrs. Alice Leonard.

Mrs. Burn Lennon has undergone surgery again, for the seventh time, in an effort to stop the spread of infection.

The Cub Scout Leaders met on Monday evening at the Bob Komar home to make plans for their coming Christmas program.

There is one very frustrating thing about being a reporter. Folks tell the most amusing and surprising things and then spoil it all by saying "Oh, but this isn't for the paper!" And sometimes it would make such interesting and enlightening reading.

Pastor and Mrs. Morris Thompson and Paul were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gohlke of Marblemount.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Krayer and daughter went to Seattle Friday and spent the weekend with the J. W. Sullivans of Sedro-Woolley.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey spent the weekend at the Alan Armstrong home in Burlington. While there they visited Mrs. Brooks in the Memorial hospital.

Mrs. John P. McConahey of Tacoma returned home last Saturday after spending a week visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Main. Mrs. Main accompanied her home to spend the weekend in Tacoma.

George Becraft and children of Seattle visited Saturday at the Bob Komar home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Drake spent Friday and Saturday in Seattle on business. They met friends from Oakland, California, and had dinner together.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Payne spent the weekend in Burlington at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Payne.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bronson spent a few days early this week at the E. G. Ellison home in Sedro-Woolley.

The old weather man must have acquired a soft spot in his heart for Concrete, giving us all that glorious sunshine early this week while Seattle and other places are blanketed in fog.

There is one thing about Christmas that we miss very much since our children are grown up and in homes of their own, and that is the contest of wits each year in trying to find a hiding place for gifts that youngsters couldn't find. I think I really succeeded just one year, and that time I used the saxaphone case. Other years things were well shook and felt of and pretty well identified before Santa came. All seven grandchildren still believe in Santa so haven't reached the snoopy stage, but it won't be long before they will be at it, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell McDaniel and family were Mount Vernon visitors on Friday, visiting with the Clare Gates'.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Styles and family attended a funeral in Abbotsford, B. C. on Sunday for an aunt of Joe's.

Martin Spargo has spent the last couple of weeks in Potland, Oregon, with his brother who has been seriously ill. He is now improved.
