SEEN and HEARD ON MAIN STREET

Definition

OPTIMIST: One who each day hopes to read that Hitler and Mussolini have killed each other in a duel over a dispute as to which will be World Enemy No. 1.

Modern warfare is unfair to generals. There is no "rear" to which they can retreat out of reach of an aerial blitzkrieg.

The jungle tribes of Africa wonder why we insist we are civilized and they are savages.

She: "Well, I guess these are 'mushrooms,' all right—it's been over an hour since I fed you that one."

Percy Whiffletree's young son plays the piano just like Paderewski. At least, he also uses both hands.

One local lad says he is going to college this fall because he has a ukelele and hates to waste it.!

Definition

ALIBI: The legal way of proving that a man was not at a place where he really was.

Oscar Hassenpfeffer is always tinkering with his boat. The only trouble he doesn't have with it is tire trouble.

Brother Jones couldn't see any use in spending money to build a fence around the cemetery. "Dem what's there can't get out," he says, "and dem what's out sho' doan wanna get in."

Many a candidate's speech is both original and good; only the original part is seldom good and the good part is seldom original.

LIFE: One fool thing after another.

LOVE: Two fool things after each other.

There are no marriages in Heaven, says Dad Gummit. for the simple reason that it is Heaven.

Nowadays a life sentence pronounced by a judge doesn't last any longer than one pronounced by a preacher!

A Toast

"May we kiss all we please, and please all we kiss."

Jockey (who had just won the Derby): "I just kept whispering in my horse's ear a little poem I made up—'Roses are red, violets are blue; horses that lose are made into glue.'

EDUCATION may broaden a narrow mind, but won't do anything for a big head.

Don't argue with a fool, suggests Dad Gummit. Listeners may get the impression you are both that way.

HICK TOWN: Where the mayor shaves only on Sunday morning.

In speaking of the fact that President Roosevelt claimed that a third term nomination was FORCED on him, a Tennessee congressman told the following story:

"It brings to mind the story of the old fellow who used to take a nip once in a while and finally was reformed. He was on his deathbed. So he said to his wife, "Mary, I wish you would go down to the old well and find that bottle of liquor I have hidden down there under a loose board. Then, Mary, I want you to go out in the back yard and pick some nice fresh mint leaves. Then, Mary, I want you to bring it up home and no matter how much I protest, Mary, make me drink it."

Most people seem more willing to defend the Constitution than to read it.

Register Now Or Wait Until After General

School Elections Closes The Books Early—Closing Is Set For October 4th.

Due to the special recall election to be held October 19th, an odd circumstance has arisen in regard to registration of voters for the general election November 5th.

As required by law the registration books will close 15 days before the school election or on October 4th. The books will remain closed until after the recall election—then will be immediately closed again for the general election.

This means that anyone who wishes to register before the general election must do so within the next week. Mrs. Leonard, registration clerk, has notified us that she will be at the city hall on Thursday and Friday of next week for this purpose, both afternoon and evening.

Remember, after Friday, October 4th, the registration books will be closed and will not reopen until after the presidential election.

Young Marblemount Couple Pull Surprise Wedding

A complete surprise to their many friends was the wedding of Miss Mary Johnson, daughter of Mrs. R. R. Hawkins of Marblemount, and Cedric Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Davis of Diobsud Creek, last Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 p. m. The ceremony was performed at the Bethel Chapel in Sedro-Woolley.

The impressive ring ceremony was conducted by Rev. Reudger, before approximately thirty relatives and friends. The wedding march was played by Mrs. A. J. Reudger and "I Love You Truly" was sung by Mrs. James Gregg of Marblemount.

The charming young bride, who was given in marriage by Dr. Hawkins, wore a wine gown with black accessories and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Lois LeRoy, wore a green taffeta with matching accessories.

The bride groom was attended by Kenneth Gregg.

Both newlyweds are well known in the upper valley, the bride having moved to Marbemount with her parents from Texas in 1933. The groom has lived here many years, his parents being pioneers of the upper valley.

LOCALS WIN 12 TO 0 FROM DARRINGTON

The Concrete Lions marched on the Darrington field Saturday for their first game against a team of their own size and comparative ability. After the one-sided defeat at Anacortes the following week, Concrete was all steamed up to win, and did so by the score of 12 to 0. According to reports of the game, Concrete was in Darrington territory most of the afternoon and besides the two touchdowns, came out of the contest with a lot of valuable experience.

This week will be open due to Meridian dropping into the six-man football league. The team will now point for the Burlington game to be played here October 5th.

TEACHERS RECEPTION AT CHURCH FRIDAY

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian Church will entertain the teachers of the Concrete schools and all parents this Friday evening, September 27th, with a reception at the church.

A special program of entertainment has been prepared and a general get-together of teachers and parents is planned. All who are interested in the school are welcome to attend.

Sunday will be Rally Day at the Mt. Baker Presbyterian church and it is hoped that all the members and friends of the church will attend. There will be several special numbers on the program. The offering will be given in the furtherance of Christian Education work.

Hugo Bauman Reported Sinking

Hugo Bauman, pioneer Rockport Hotel man and present county commissioner from the upper valley district, lay in the Sedo-Woolley hospital this week gradually growing weaker from an illness that has troubled him for the past year.

When his condition became critical a short time ago, he was removed from his Rockport home to the hospital. Since he has shown little improvement. The past week he has been conscious only at intervals.

Latest reports today were that he was sinking noticeably and little hope is held for his recovery.

40-Mill Limit Law Up To Voters Again In Nov.

Uncollected property taxes in Skagit county have decreased 56 per cent under the 40-mill tax limi law, it is revealed by the 40-mill tax limit committee now endeavoring to rennact this popular law.

In 1932, taxes levied on property in Skagit county totaled in excess of $1,419,000, and at the end of 1933 there still remained $456,300, or 32 per cent, uncollected. In 1938 $842,000 were levied and at the end of 1939 only $122,600, or 15 per cent remained unpaid.

The 40-mill limit measure appears on the ballot again this year

Basketball Schedule Ready For 1940-41 Hoop Race

Schedule for the 1940-41 basketball season has been announced by the Skagit County athletic board with a program of ten games for each team in the county league. The season will open earlier this year, getting under way on Friday, December 20th.

On the opening date Concrete will play Edison on the local floor. Schedule for the balance of the season is:

Friday, January 3rd—Concrete at Anacortes.

Friday, January 10th—LaConner at Concrete.

Tuesday, January 14—Concrete at Hamilton.

Friday, January 17th—Burlington at Concrete.

Friday, January 24th—Concrete at Edison.

Friday, January 31—Hamilton at Concrete.

Friday, February 7th—Concrete at Mount Vernon.

Friday, February 14th—Sedro-Woolley at Concrete.

Friday, February 21st—Concrete at LaConner.

Mrs. Margaret Black of Sedro-Woolley and Mrs. Leo Gale of Bow helped out at the Cascade last week while Mrs. Mildred Jewett and Reno Hoy took a short vacation. Mrs. Black is Mrs. Jewett's mother and Mrs. Gale, her aunt.

In Concrete Eleven Years Ago This Week

Concrete Herald, Sept. 26, 1929

Hugo Bauman, county commissioner for this district, stated this week that plans of the county commissioners for financing, and the plans of county engineer Knapp for rebuilding the Van Horn road had ben officialy approved by the state director of highways and the state engineers and that the matter was now ready for a call for bids to be issued for the work. There are several minor details to be worked out before a contract can be awarded, but it is hoped that bids can be called early in October and work started on the job this fall. The contract will involve an expenditure of between $100,000 and $150,000 and will give employment to a large crew of men for about a year, and with industrial conditions as quiet as they are now in the upper valley it will help considerably when the work is started.

The Herald has been transferred to a new owner and C. M. Dwelley is the new publisher of this paper. Mr. Dwelley took charge of the plant Tuesday morning and is rapidly getting used to the shop and getting acquainted with the people. He is an experienced printer and newspaper man and is well able to keep the Herald up to its past standard, and intends to use his best efforts to make it even better than before.

The first aid team of the Superior Portland Cement, Inc., found the competition too keen at the contests conducted under the auspices of the Portland Cement association at Portland last week and had to be satisfied with a tie for third place when the final scores were announced. Those who made the trip were Howard Carleton, captain; Fred Baker, R. A. Lang, Walter Jungblom, Alex Patterson and John Bitonti.

Mrs. Sam Bitonti, who made her home in Concrete until a few months ago, committed suicide at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Vaughn, in Burlington late Saturday night. She went to her room and drank a solution of strychnine. Her screams attracted her parents, who immediately sum-

Clinchard Home Scene Of Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Clinchard was the scene of a quiet wedding Sunday afternoon when Miss Zela Marie Clinchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinchard, became the bride of Mr. Leo W. Honea, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Honea of Fayetteville, Arkansas.

The Reverend Thos. A. Davis of the local Presbyterian Church read the services at 1:00 before an improvised altar of fall flowers in delicate shades.

The bride chose a green alpaca suit with wine accessories for the ceremony and wore a corsage of orchids. Miss Zena Clinchard, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. Mr. Powell Everett of Mount Vernon acted as best man for the groom.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served to the wedding party and the immediate relatives at a beautifully arranged table centered by the traditional wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Honea will make their home in Bellingham where Mr. Honea is with the Olympic Portland Cement Co. through his work in the Bureau of Standards of the Department of Commerce. Mrs. Honea is very well known here, having lived all her life in this city. She graduated from the Concrete high school. For the past year she has been employed at the Concrete Herald office. Mr. Honea is a graduate of the University of Arkansas where he was awarded his B. S. in electrical engineering in 1937.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clinchard of Sedro-Woolley, Mr. and Mrs. Powell Everett of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. L. A. Philipoteaux of Everett and Miss Zena Clinchard of Everett.

Kauffman's Honored With Farewell Parties Here

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kauffman were visiting with relatives and friends in town the latter part of the week. Two parties were arranged during their stay. The Altar Society entertained on Thursday in Mrs. Kauffman's honor and on Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bailey had a few guests in for a farewell party.

SLASHING FIRES

Smoke covered the upper valley this week as logging operations began fall burning of logged off land. Contributing to the haze is a big burning operation on the Lake Shannon Shingle company works above Thunder Creek. A mile and a quarter of fire front is being patrolled.

County Political Groups Re-elect Same Officers

County Organizations Meet On Saturdav To Get Set For Campaign.

Political organizations for the coming campaign were perfected by both Republicans and Democrats Saturday when the county's precinct committeemen met to elect their leaders.

At the Republican meeting at Burlington Grant Sisson was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Republican central committee with Mrs. Wendell Whitney of LaConner as vice-chairman. George Vogel was also unanimously re-elected as state committeeman and Mrs. M. E. Norris as state committeewoman.

Reuben Youngquist of Mount Vernon made the address of the afternoon.

At Mount Vernon the Democratic committeemen followed a similar pattern, re-electing all but one of their former officers. Axel Nelson of Mount Vernon was re-elected chairman, Mrs. Emma Ridgeway of Sedro-Woolley as state committeewoman, William Henry of Edison as state committeeman. Mrs. D. B. Ives of Anacortes was named to succeed Mrs. H. W. Donner of Burlington as vice-chairman, Mrs. Donner being unable to serve again.

Speaking to the Democratic gathering was Henry Jackson, candidate for congress.

POWER COMPANY TO APPEAL THEIR CASE

The Puget Sound Power & Light Company this week filed notice of appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in the Whatcom county condemnation case. The appeal was based on a number of points, one of these being the fundamental question as to the right under existing law and court decisions of a public utility district to condemn the company's property.

It is argued that as the first step in the condemnation proceedings was a Degree of Public Use and Necessity, the district was not entitled to such decree because of lack of necessity for taking over the private company and absence of public benefit from such an act.

Says Pres. McLaughlin, "—either under public or private operation—we do not believe that the public interest can be served by breaking up Puget Power's unified, integrated system...."

Development of new uses for plywood in recent years has been as spectacular as the most notable progress in any other American industry. Historically, plywood is known as far back as the ancient Egyptian and Chinese civilizations. It remained for modern technology to make possible mass production.

A wide spread new use of plywood has been for concrete forms. One Chicago building recently used more than a million square feet of plywood in concrete sheathing. Use for internal paneling is becoming much more widespread. It is used for cabinets, closets, doors and furniture. The automotive industry is using it for car bodies. It is used for boats. It has been found invaluable in stream lined trains, and best building of many kinds. Plywood was used for the exterior of the Washington State Building at the New York World's Fair and the building's ceiling and office is finished entirely in plywood paneling.

Dougas fir plywood is an engineered wood board or panel consisting of an odd number of sheets of Douglas fir placed cross-wise and bonded together under hydraulic pressure with water resistant glues that are stronger than the wood. Added strength is obtained since the strength of the wood along its grain is made use of in both directions. Washington leads the nation in the manufacture of plywood.

Here we are, starting our twelfth year of publishing The Concrete Herald, and with a head so full of cold and flu that little can be said to properly commemorate the occasion. Like most politicians that have been lucky enough to survive a few terms, we can content ourselves with a sweep of the hand toward the past and stand on our record. We feel that our first eleven years will stand a very exhausting scrutiny, but whether it be judged good or bad depends upon who does it. It has been our object to give our readers a paper with personality, we have endeavored to take a definite stand on all problems without regard to whose toes were stepped upon and in living up to this have managed to step on most toes at least once in our eleven years. Taken as a whole the result was not too bad—we weathered the depression and have managed to keep a fair list of subscribers and advertisers. All of which adds up to the fact that Concrete and vicinity still enjoys that "freedom of the press" and the good old fashioned custom of editorial writing. For which we thank you, one and all.

Local Ball Star Home From Minor League Wars

Hal Johnson, the "Doc" Johnson who pitched for Concrete's ball team last year, is back from his first year in the big time, arriving in town this week fom Tuscon, Arizona, where he has been playing for the Arizona Cowboys, a farm club of the Cincinati Reds.

Doc is very pleased with his season and expects to keep going up in baseball. His thrill of the year was pitching the game that won the Cowboys their first pennant in 11 years.

Johnson is still under contract to the Reds and is just awaiting word as to whether or not he will play ball this winter in the south or hold over until spring.

LOCAL NEWS

Coach Brown Wiseman took his football squad to Burlintgon last Friday afternoon and tried the boys out in a game against the husky first team of the Burlington high school. The game was fast and exciting from start to finish, and the Concrete boys surprised themselves and their most optimistic boosters by holding their opponents to three touchdowns. The local youngsters were greatly outweighed and expected to lose by a much larger score.

The assessed valuation of Skagit county is about $400,000 less than last year, according to the figures of County Assessor Arthur Fisher. The new valuation for the county is $23,15,805. About half of the decrease is due to loss of banks of the county on tax valuation, and the cutting of timber. The banks, under a new law, will be taxed on their income, and do not appear on the county tax valuation. Concrete's assessed valuation for the 1930 tax is $580,764 as compared to $592,-799 last year. With the banks eliminated practically every town in the county shows a decrease except Burlington.

Announcing the big NEW 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skilful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride. New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even livelier car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million motor cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many good reasons for making this your 1941 car.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TAKING ANGLE SHOTS

In this shot, the "up angle" view is the natural one. Don't be afraid to tilt the camera when the subject is suited to an "angle shot."

"HOLD your camera level" — that's what the instruction books say But it all depends on what you're shooting, and in some shots you' get a more interesting effect if the camera is pointed up or down

When you're taking a picture of your house, the camera should always be perfectly level. That also holds true for other subjects with vertical lines, such as tall trees—provided you want the vertical lines to appear as you see them With the camera tilted up, these lines will slope toward each other; and your house, for example, will appear smaller at the top.

There's a very simple reason for this. When the camera is tilted, the top of the house is farther from the lens than the foundation. And, as you know, anything at a greater distance from the camera will appear smaller in the picture.

However, in many cases, the subject calls for a tilted camera. Consider the picture of the little girl on the balcony, above. This is just the way the balcony would appear from the front yard or walk. Therefore this picture—taken with the camera tilted up—gives the most natural effect

In the same way, a picture of a person or group in the front yard, taken from the balcony, would be very effective — especially if you stood back in the doorway and included a small part of the balcony railing That would show how and where the picture was snapped.

These are more or less "normal" viewpoints, but often an unusual viewpoint gives an interesting effect Place your camera near ground level and tilt it up, to take a picture of a golfer or tennis player—and the effect is more dramatic. This is known as a "worm's eye" view. "Bird's eye" views, with the camera quite high and tilted down, are also good for many subjects.

Experiment with camera angles. Your view finder will show you, in each case, what you can get. Always make the viewpoint suit the subject—and you'll get lively, eye-catching, effective pictures.

BOOK KEEPING IS A JOB!

as the man who handles the "accounts" can tell you.

But the chore is often needlessly complicated.

When you stop to think about it, all bookkeeping must start with ORIGINAL ENTRY forms - - usually a salesbook.

"Well Begun Is Half Done"

Start the procedure right. And you'll find that slogan is true. If you want your accounting task to flow smoothly, start it with a REDIFORM DESIGNED SALESBOOK.

These books are made to begin the bookkeeping job correctly . . to reduce mistakes . . and make posting easier.

The Garden Corner

By DR. JOHN H. HANLEY

This is the time of year to make your garden plans for next spring. It is an unfortunate truth that most of us go into flower growing too enthusiastically in the early part of the year and that our interest wanes as fall approaches.

Most of our gardens show their deficiencies and excesses at this time and the grower who wants to continually improve the appearance of the home grounds will do well to take up a pencil and plenty of paper and make careful notes right now.

Here a color combination must be changed or a taller annual must go in there to relieve an awkward break in the line. This is also a good time to look around for improved varieties of perennials and annuals to take the places of inferior types. The test gardens at the University of Washington Arboretum can help in this.

There you will find some three hundred kinds of annuals that are either new or that are definitely superior. Among the attractive types are two that lend themselves perfectly to rockery planting. One of them is Sanvitalia procumbeus, a low growing type that covers itself with masses of orange-yellow daisy-like flowers and spreads rapidly over the ground making individual mats two to two and one half feet across. It can be had in double or single flowered forms.

The other is a delicate, upright growing type called Fairy Stars, a form of Gilia. The small blossoms appear in reds, yellows and whites and open only when full sun strikes them. The dry, warm rockery is a perfect setting for both these varieties. They lack the somewhat artificial appearance and habits of other annuals and therefore fit into the naturalistic surroundings of the rock garden much better. In addition to this particular use they can also serve perfectly for low bedding work and edging.

For Safety's sake PAVE THE GAPS WITH Concrete

WHY do state highway departments warn the public: "Concrete Pavement Ends"?

Because it is universally accepted that speeds which are reasonable and safe on concrete become dangerous on other surfaces.

To save lives to prevent accidents... demand concrete all the way.

True and even, it has no high crown—is usable to its full width. Brakes are at their best on its gritty, non-skid surface. Its light gray color and sharply defined edges give visibility at night. Any car is a better car on concrete.

And concrete saves money for motorists and for taxpayers. Insist on concrete for your roads.

Concrete's Resistance to Spring "Break-Ups" Worth Millions to Taxpayers Every Year

When the frost comes out or the rain pours down, concrete pavements "can take it." They're always ready to get you through with safety. Even after the terrible punishment of this winter, routine, inexpensive maintenance will quickly put concrete in condition for heavy summer traffic. Aggravating detours and costly delays are avoided.

AN ORDERLY BASEMENT

An orderly basement and who doesn't want one, means a place for the articles you naturally keep in the basement—a closet for your tools—a table for your clothes basket—dustless shelves for your fruit and built-in bins for your vegetable storage.

The annoying periodic clean-up drive to keep the basement from chaos is unnecessary with proper basement facilities. Things just automatically stay "put."

Basement improvements are inexpensive. Please let us tell you just how little these important helps will cost.
