THIS AND THAT

By H. L. D.

Each year the Washngton State Press Club, in connection with the Washington Newspaper Publishers Association, holds a contest to determine which writers in the state are doing outstanding work in their field. Each newspaper sends in their best feature stories, editorial coment and outstanding news stories and out of these the winners are picked. The contest includes metropolitan newspapers, non metropolitan dailies and weeklies all over the state. This year over 300 entries were made.

For the first time, this year Chuck entered with editoral material and the bridge publicity campaign written last fall. We were very proud when your editor won first award for Editorial writing and a 4th award for community service writing.

The first we knew that we had won something was a letter inviting us to attend the award dinner and the word "congratulations". Last Thursday evening we sat at the banquet table no knowing just what we had won, so it was hard to find two prouder people than Tike and I when Chuck was called up to receive his first award, which read as follows:

"Award by the Washington State Press Club in recognition of an outstanding accomplishment in journalism adjudged the best example of Distinguished Editorial Writing in a weekly newspaper in Washington in the calendar year 1948, the test of excellence being clarity, worthy purpose, sound reasoning and probabl effectiveness."

A $100 bond accompanied the handsome certificate of award.

As we sat through the balance of the awards another surpise was received when the second award was announced for the Concrete Herald.

We have always felt that our editorials were outstanding, especially the short squibs that have been the spice of Chuck's column for many years—but after all, we are rather prejudiced in his favor.

The publicity he has recently received bears us out and pleases us no end. We hope it does you, too.

Your columnist is confined to her home again, this time with a touch of bronchial pneumonia. With all this beautiful spring weather it is hard to be couped up in the house. From the window we can see others outdoors getting their yards and gardens cleaned up for spring. Our yard is beginning to bloom with crocuses, daffodils, violets and primroses, making spots of bright color here and there. The flowering trees are beginning to bud out, too, so the place will be a riot of color in a few weeks. How soon we forget the cold, long winter with the first sunny days of spring.

FABER DAM IN NEWS AGAIN AS POSSIBILITY

Game Department Against Blocking Salmon Run By Skagit Dam Here.

Rumblings are again being heard from the federal government on more hydro-electric and flood control projects on the Skagit river. Army Engineers, who have been conducting surveys on the Skagit, Cascade, Sauk and Baker rivers for several years, are now nearing the final stages of their work and plan to have their report ready next year.

Under consideration by the Army Engineers are four dams: One on the Baker river; one on the main channel of the Skagit at Faber; one on the lower Sauk river and another on the lower Cascade river. They are now seeking information from the state game department as to possible effect on the river's system of fish runs.

The state game department is of the opinion that the Baker and Faber dams would be dertimental to the famous Skagit steelhead runs, the Faber project being by far the most destructive to future development of fishing.

The Game Commission has issued a statement that "Part of the Skagit river already is blocked by power developments, so we must be on our guard to protect the great fish runs on this stream. The Skagit is famed the breadth of our land for its fine fishing, being worth a tremendous amount to us as a tourist and recreation asset for this reason."

The proposed dam on the Baker river (above Lake Shannon) would back water into the canyon above Baker Lake, inundating much valuable recreational area around the present Baker Lake shore line.

Both the Faber and Baker river dams will find much opposition in the upper valley if the stage of actual contemplation of the dams is reached.

All projects are at present merely under survey as "possibilities."

Good Turnout For PTA

With the opening game of the new town team league only six weeks away, Manager Bert Hanstead is still hunting for a number of new recruits for the squad. The first draft of ball players in this community found a list of twenty-six good men, but the first turnout only found 13 present.

The small opening turnout was partially due to the fact that workouts have not been publicly announced. Manager Hanstead says that all ball players in the upper valley are welcomed to join the squad. Turn-outs will be every good evening at 6:00 p. m. and every Sunday the weather permits.

The league roster calls for twenty players, interchangeable with 24-hours notice. Candidates out Sunday were Armond and Fred Bianchini, Bill Harris, Dave Wright, Stu Reynolds, Bert Hanstead, Joe Lang, Jim Newby, Al Armstrong, Warren Dexter and Tom Welsh. Others that will definitely be out for the team are Whitehair, LeBaron and Doc and Bob Johnson.

Manager Bert Hanstead will handle the infield with Ass't. Manager Joe Lang taking over to shape up the outfield.

On such a heavy schedule some injuries may result, so it is hoped to have two men out for every position. A large turn-out will make every player hustle to keep on the squad.

Nighthawks Elect

At a recent meeting of the Nighthawks Athletic Club, Armond Bianchini was named president; Dave Wright, secretary and George Nims, financial secretary. At this session the manager and assistant were elected for the baseball team this year.

Attending Conference

BENEFIT DANCE AT GRASMERE FRIDAY

A benefit dance will be given tomorrow night at the Grasmere hall for Adeline Steenis, popular member of the Legion Auxiliary and other organizatons here. Mrs. Steenis lost all her personal belongings in a fire recently.

The dance is being sponsored jointly by the Legion and Auxiliary.

Music for the dance will be provided by the Harmony Boys from the Chuckanut Shell. This orchestra played here recently and made a big hit with the dancers. An advance ticket sale has been under way all week and a good crowd is already assured.

New Hardware Open Monday

The new store of the Cascade Supply, which has been in the process of building for the past year, will be opened to the public next Monday morning. From the advance inspection of the store, it will be a most welcome addition to Main street. New, modern display techniques will be featured and the entire building has been planned for ease in handling the huge stock of hardware and appliances turned over each year by the firm.

Mr Baughman states that the move from the old lumber shed will be made gradually so as not to interfere with business, and that it may be several weeks before the entire stock is arranged at the new location.

A novel system of double floors in each of the two large buildings gives an enormous floor space for stock display. Another feature is a stock receiving room that will streamline the various processes of checking and pricing incoming merchandise.

The Eagles Amateur Show committee is still looking for a lot more talent for their show, to be given later this month. To date several good numbers have been arranged, but to make a full program there will have to be many more interested.

Miss Helen Green, a member of the Junior class, represented Concrete high school in the Skagit County Oratorical contest held at Burlington last Friday afternoon. This is the first time that Concrete has participated in a county contest of this kind.

Mr. Kauffman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kauffman of this city.

The terrific hail-storm last Friday afternoon was greatly responsible for the fatal accident in which Glenn Strong, 27 year old son of Mr and Mr. Lee Strong of Grasmere, lost his life beneath the wheels of a truck. Caught out in the storm while walking down Burpee Hill, young Strong was offered a ride on a truck. He jumped on the running board and in attempting to get in the cab, slipped and fell under the wheels of the truck. He died on the way to the hospital without regaining consciousness.

Thousands Of Fish Are Planted In Local Lakes

The county fishermen can look forward to trying to land an additional 1½ tons of fish in the next few years. According to the state game department, that is the weight of rainbow fingerlings now being planted in this district.

Plantings in the upper valley will include 19,000 rainbow fingerlings in Baker Lake; 1,000 rainbow fingerlings in Everett Lake; 10,000 cutthroat fingerlings in Grandy Lake; 10,000 cutthroat fry in Everett Lake; 12,000 eastern brook fry in Vogler Lake; 4,000 eastern brook fry in Upper Josephine and 20,000 eastern brook fry in Texas ponds.

In addition there will be 63,000 fingerling steelhead planted this spring in the Skagit river. About 400,000 more cutthroat and rainbow trout fry have been allotted to this game district for future plants.

Birdsview Girl Dies Suddenly

The entire community was shocked to hear that little Sheila Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Dickinson, passed away Sunday morning at the Orthopedic hospital following an illness of only one day. Sheila was taken very sick Saturday morning and taken to the doctor in Sedro-Woolley that day. Saturday evening at 7:00 p. m. she was rushed in an ambulance to Seattle and passed away Sunday morning at 6:00 a. m.

She was born June 24, 1947 and had been in good health all of her life. She leaves to mourn her parents; a brother, Clarence; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickinson and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Yates of Concrete, and many other relatives.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the Lemley Chapel in Sedro-Woolley.

BACON CREEK CHANGE POSTPONED TO JUNE 1

The announcement last week that the Bacon Creek road would be taken over by the state next month was a bit premature. The state highway department office for this district reports that while the law might read that way, here will be no funds available until June 1st for any real work on the road, so they will work with the county and City Light until that time.

On June first the county will be given the Cascade road in exchange for the Bacon Creek-Newhalem route.

The Newhalem road was given a thorough treatment last week by combined equipment of City Light, the county and state. Two graders, trucks and other equipment were used to fill the bad mud holes that developed after the thaw, slides were removed an the entire road placed in fair condition for the heavy traffic that will be going over it this summer.

Upwards of 400 men will be at work on the upper Skagit within a few weeks on various projects at the City Light properties.

Lions To Give Athletic Banquet April 20th

Final preparations were discussed last night at the regular meeting of the Concrete Lions Club for the annual athletic banquet to be given for the football, basketball and baseball boys of the local high school. The banquet will be held at the school cafeteria April 20.

The entire cost of the banquet will be born by the club and the membership. The banquet will be featured by talks and entertainment features.

Clean-Up Week Set For Last Week Of April

Not much news about council meeting Monday night as the editor failed to mark it on his calendar and forgot about it entirely.

However the Mayor did set April 24th to 30th, inclusive, as the dates for Spring Clean Up Week.

An announcement of details of the clean-up drive will be made next week.

HATCHERY AT BIRDSVIEW IN TRADE PROPOSAL

May Trade State Peninsula Hatchery For The Federal Grounds At Birdsview.

A deal appears to be likely between the state and federal government whereby the Birdsview Fish Hatchery will be taken over and operated by the state.

A bill was passed by the house of representatives in Congress this week approving a trade in which the state fish hatchery at Lake Crescent on the Olympic penninsula would be exchanged for the Federal Fish Hatchery at Birdsview. The Lake Crescent hatchery would then become a part of the Olympic national park.

The Herald endeavored to contact state game director Don Clarke, but was unable to reach him for further information on plans of the state for the local hatchery if the bill is approved by the Senate.

The Birdsview hatchery has been closed for several years, but at one time was one of the largest fish producing hatcheries in the state.

More Projects Considered

Among the various forest-highway projects approved by a joint conference recently between the Public Road Administration, the Forestry Service and the State Highway Administration, were two of interest in the upper valley.

The projects approved for congressional appropriations were a bridge across the Baker river at Baker Lake, $55,000; and grading and surfacing of the Cascade Wagon road for one mile, $45,000.

Burned As Roof Caves

Frank Arnold, well known resident of this community, was badly burned Sunday when fire destroyed his home on the south side of the Skagit at Concrete ferry.

Mr. Arnold was working in the field near his home when he discovered the house was afire. It had been burning for some time, but he attempted to dash into the structure to save some of his things and the roof caved in on him.

He was taken to the Memorial hospital, where it was found that although he was painfully burned, no serious effects were expected.

CONCRETE WINS FROM OAK HARBOR 9 TO 1

The Concrete Lions chalked up their second win in two starts, downing the Oak Harbor Wildcats Monday to the tune of 9 to 1. Bob White, the Lions fastball pitcher, gave up only two hits in the five innings he pitched. Gerald Enick, who took over for White in the sixth inning, shut out the Wildcats in the final stanzas.

The Lions rapped out twelve hits off the two Oak Harbor pitchers, Haga and Lang. White of Concrete struck out six men while Haga of Oak Harbor struck out five and his team mate, Lang, fanned one.

The Concrete team scored in every inning but the third and the sixth, getting one run in the first, two in the second, four in the fourth, one in the fifth and one in the seventh. The Wildcats only run came in the third inning.

Almost every player on the squad played in Monday's game. Coach LeBaron took pitcher Bob White out of the game at the end of the fifth inning with a comfortable 8 to 2 lead. Enick then tried his stuff for the final innngs.

Horn of Concrete got the only round-tripper of the game, but that was on an error.

The Lions will play their first league game today at Woolley.

The Freshmen class will be sponsors of a school party to be given tomorrow night at the high school. The theme of the party is "barn dance". Eats, entertainment and dancing are on the program.

If the upper Skagit can stave off another "valley authority" on the Skagit river, it will only be because we were warned soon enough to start working against it. For several years now army engineers have been making surveys of possible power sites and flood control projects that could make the valley above Concrete just a series of ponds. We know that the people of the valley don't want such a thing to happen, but we know also that unless some definite and concerted action is taken to make this fact known we will one of these days find a construction crew on the river banks making ready to put an end to all the hopes and aspirations of those who live in and love this green valley of ours. Too much of the propoganda that calls for despoiling a river is from government agencies themselves, whose never-ending greed fattens on more and more "projects" whether needed or not. Power needs are growing, but until present sources are developed to the utmost, no new dams are needed. If upper streams can be utilized, a Faber dam will never be needed for its avowed purpose of flood control. Take warning from the happenings in other quiet valleys. The Skagit is being lined up for sacrifice.

In the West it's Rainier BEER

SICKS' SEATTLE BREWING & MALTING CO., SEATTLE, U. S. A.

A Great Northern rotary plow is almost hidden by a mammoth snow slide in Western Washington. Snowfighting in January and February cost Great Northern more than 1 million dollars—not one cent of it taxpayers' money. The railways are the nation's only common carriers which wholly pay their own way.

RAIL COSTS AND FREIGHT RATES

A spokesman for several hundred Great Northern customers recently protested that present freight rates on farm products "are burdensome."

"Burdensome" is a two-way word in a discussion of freight rates. for burdensome costs of producing railway services have been and continue to be wholly responsible for transportation charges to shippers. Moreover, neither Great Northern nor any other railway has control over prices they must pay or charges they may make for their services.

Except for a small and short-lived increase during the early part of World War Two, freight rates had not advanced from 1938 until July 1, 1946, when the first postwar boost became effective. This increase was authorized long after railway wages, costs of supplies and prices of commodities hauled by rail started skyward.

From July 1, 1946 to date, freight rates have risen 46.9 per cent in the West. That figure looks substantial on paper — but, the cold fact is that Great Northern has not benefited from the full 46.9 per cent. The actual total increase to the railway has been only 28.2 per cent!

Rate increases authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission, after prolonged hearings, not always have been wholly applicable to some commodities in long haul movement—an important part of Great Northern's total business. Concurrence with the I. C. C. on increases has been delayed by some state regulatory bodies, while some state commissions have reduced I. C. C.-authorized rates on traffic moving within a state—principally farm products.

Now let's look at the increase in costs of services and supplies Great Northern must buy to keep the railway plant operating efficiently. From December 1940 through December 1948 the company's wage bill (two-thirds of all operating expense) increased 86 per cent, and another whopping wage boost just has been granted. Other notable increases in that period were: locomotive fuel oil 170 per cent; diesel oil 122 per cent; coal 85 per cent; grey iron castings 196 per cent; tires 258 per cent; car-building lumber 269 per cent; grain doors 150 per cent.

That booming railway operating costs in the postwar years have necessitated repeated advances in freight rates on products of farms and ranches is a subject of deepest concern to Great Northern. Yet, the future health of the American railway industry and its importance to the national economy and protection is in the hands of the American public—the topic of a discussion which will appear in the next issue of this publication.

AFTER a winter of inactivity, Concrete's air-minded are taking to the wild-blue-younder agan. Both of Jack Solomon's planes were up in the air over the week end and several out-of-town planes visited the home field. Lowell and Mervya Peterson have just finished repainting their Luscombe and will have it in the air before long.

FISHING season is only a week and a half away now. With Everett Lake and Vogler Lake both restocked and ready to go, there should be plenty of good fishing opening day. Vogler Lake is still covered with ice at the present time, but should be O. K. by the seventeenth with some decent weather. Lake Shannon is also looking good at present, but whether it will stay that way is anyone's guess.

WITH a perfect record of two games won and none lost the Lions will face Sedro-Woolley in their opening conference game tonight. Whether or not the boys have what it takes will show up tonight against one of the toughest teams in the league. In their practice game against Darrington the Lions were woefully short on hitting power, although they seemed to pick up in that department when they played Oak Harbor on Monday. Lloyd Hooper, the Concrete curve-ball artist, will be on the mound in tonight's game.

THE Nighthawks baseball team will have some tough competition in the Northwest baseball league. One of the teams to beat this year will be the Milkmaids from Mount Vernon, who have some mighty good boys on their bench. The Milkmaids have two new mound-men this year, Jack Stine, who pitched for the Worland, Wyoming, Indans last year in the National Semi-pro Championships, and Warren Sierer, who was a mainstay in the last years' Matheny-Bacon nine. Also playing for the Maids will be Al Brightman, Bob Steele, Pete Bianchi, Andy Opacich and Jack Hjelma in the infield; plus Earl Silverthorne, Bobby McGuire, Warren Tappan and Dave Molitor in the outfield. Three of last years pitchers will be back to bring the pitching staff to five.

Moving Next Week

Next week (and for several weeks thereafter) we will be moving from our lumber shed to our new quarters up-town.

We Will Remain Open

During many weeks we will keep both places open until we have sufficient stock at our up-town store to operate from there, but for a while the up-town stock will be mostly appliances and houseware. THE HEAVIER CLASS OF STOCK WILL BE THE LAST TO BE THE LAST TO BE MOVED.

There Will Be Confusion

but we trust you will bear with us until things get straightened out. We would like to close down for a week but feel that this would inconvenience too many patrons due to the fact that many of the articles wanted could not be had elsewhere in this locality.

For a while we may have to direct you from one of our stores to the other to complete your order. We know you will bear with us if we have to do this. IT TAKES TIME TO MOVE A STOCK AS LARGE AS OURS.

Pay All Bills At Lumber Shed

All our records will be kept at the old location until we close its doors.

We Hope You Will Like Our New Store

We believe that our new store will be one of the finest in the county, a store that the upper valley can be proud of. By taking our time and planning each fixture and section of the building, we have tried to make it both attractive and convenient. Latest methods of display will greet you. Modern methods of merchandising will make for shopping easy.
