FEATHERS from the Duster

By The Overtime Editor

OUR MOST COMPELLING window display this summer has been the daytime lounging of the two Siamese office cats, Sabu and her boy Jocko. During the hot weather they have moved downstairs and spend most of the day sleeping in on the front wndow ledge, on the counters, shelving or in any box that happens to appear in the place. We meet more people through their being in sight. Strangers stop and tap on the window to attract their attention and more often than not come right in to pet them and talk "cats" with Miriam or myself. The cats, themselves, take the whole thing with a sort of pleased boredom. They suffer the noisy attention of the children, show interest when customers want to use the counter for something besides giving them attention, but reserve the demonstrative affection for those few individuals who find some sort of an invisible bond between them. When that happens, stranger or no, the cats make them completely welcome.

We often wonder what the pair think of the printing office. They both have come to accept the noise of the machines and can walk under or around the Linotype without turning a hair. They perch on the newspaper pages, kick over type and put footprints on any clean piece of paper left lying around. Mostly they just sit and study as if trying to figure out what you are trying to do and, for goodness sakes, why! A terrible waste of good sleeping time.

They put up with it all day, but when 5:00 o'clock comes and work doesn't come to a halt, both loudly complain and follow you around until they are taken upstairs and fed. After that—back to sleep for the evening. And get rested up for a good twelve hours on the pad in their favorite chair. Days are interesting but the naps seem to be tiring.

FOR THOSE OF US who are still trying to earn a living most of the daylight hours, it is hard to realize that there is now quite a segment of our population that has to find something to do with their days. The retired people are getting younger every year, it seems, and have to keep active. One of the time-passers is the Leisure Club in Mount Vernon, which meets regularly at Hillcrest Park. Quite a few upper valley folks have been attending and report a fine time. It is for people over 50 years of age. Next meeting is Sept. 4th, at 10:00 A. M. You bring a sack lunch. Anyone for leisure time?

IF THE GOOD WEATHER holds over Labor Day, this summer can be chalked in red ink in the family records as being one of the best in many years for those who enjoy the outdoors. Campers, fishermen and hikers have discovered the upper valley all over again this summer, due to new Baker Lake, the new roads to formerly hard-to-get-to places. What is more amazing is that local people, who are found to be the last ones to see the many beauty spots close to home, have also been exploring in their own back yards. If you want to hear excited praise don't talk to a visitor—talk to a neighbor who for the first time found out how much fun they can have in their own valley.

The travel folders put out by the yet to be organized Upper Skagit Chamber of Commerce are doing a noticeably fine job. Recently the Herald has been receiving two or three letters a week asking for additional information on the area from people wanting to visit here. Baker Lake, Cascade Pass, the route North Cross-State Highway route seem to be most popular.

And speaking of publicity, the Omak Chronicle last week had two double-columns of editorial description of Editor Bruce Wilson's recent hike with his wife from the Hart's Pass road to Ross Dam. And with pictures to illustrate!

● Crest Map Issued

Interest in the Cascade Crest Trail, which follows the rugged mountain range through most of the state, has prompted the U. S. Forest Service to bring out an up-to-date map of the entire trail. The new folder replaces one printed in 1952 and contains all the latest information. This time color has been used to make the folder even more attractive.

Copies of the new map are now available at the various ranger stations.

● Baby Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hawkings are rejoicing over the birth of a 6 lb. 4 oz. daughter Saturday, August 26th at the Memorial Hospital. The little lady has been named Rebekah Lynn and joins three little brothers, Andy, Mike and Jimmy.

Forest Fire On Ross Still Causing Trouble

Forest fires continue to plague the northern portion of the Mt. Baker National Forest. The Bar Creek fire, that occurred in logging slash Tuesday, is under control and mop up operations continue. The suppression activities have shifted to the Skagit Ranger District where "sleeper fires" from the recent lightning storm continue to appear. Smokejumpers from the Winthrop Base are the first line of attack in controlling these remotely located fires.

Two problem fires are burning five miles north of the Diablo Dam near Beaver Creek. Beaver Creek number 1 fire has three men on it and was reinforced by thirty more firefighters. This crew traveled from Diablo by foot and boat to the mouth of Beaver Creek on Ross Lake. From this point they hiked five miles up the Beaver Creek Trail to the Sand Bar Helispot which is the base of operations for this fire.

Sixty firefighters relieved the twenty-man crew that has been struggling with this blaze for a week. This group was flown from Diablo by helicopter five miles north to the ridge above the Beaver Creek number 2 fire.

Both fires are approximately ten acres in size and natural barriers such as rock slides and cliffs will be used for control points. Supplies and food are being dropped to both camps by planes based at Bellingham. A pack string from Marblemount will augment the air drop to the Sand Bar Helispot. Flight operations are seriously hampered by low clouds thereby preventing aerial transportation of men and equipment.

Funds Waiting Redevelopment

Distress fund applications may now be made by county groups interested in securing federal money for redevelopment projects. Skagit county is one of the seven counties in the state that has been declared a distress area and made eligible for federal funds.

The Skagit County Development Association was given the task of setting up a program aimed at bringing public and private construction to provide payrolls for the county.

In a recent meeting in Mount Vernon Lloyd Curry of the state department of commerce and economic development told the group that the county could be filled with new industries in the next ten years if proper preparatory work is done.

Applications by private or public agencies for funds can now be received by officers of the association. Pres. Ralph Connor of Sedro-Woolley, Vice Pres. Arnell Johnson of Anacortes or Leo Sullivan of Mt. Vernon have the detailed information and can accept the requests for aid.

Projects most suitable for this type of assistance are those that provide employment through improvement of public facilites, redevelopment of lagging industries and re-training of workers for new types of jobs.

Skagit River Still Tops For Steelhead Fishing

The Skagit river still led all streams in the state for steelhead last season. Although the catch for the entire state showed a decrease of 21 per cent from the 1959-60 season, a total of 117,750 fish were reported through the punch card returns.

The Skagit river produced 12,566 steelhead, according to the figures reported back by the sportsmen. Next highest stream was the Green river, which had a total of 8,449. Last season the Skagit showed a total of 18,568 fish caught.

Donald R. Snyder, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder of Rockport, is now serving aboard the USS Yorktown. The carrier is an anti-submarine warfare support ship operating out of Long Beach, California.

The Yorktown sailed August 26th to join twenty other First Fleet ships departing for Hawaii to relieve sister vessels now operating in the Far East with the Seventh Fleet.

Charbonneau-Taylor Wedding Held Friday

A lovely wedding at the Community Bible Church here August 18th united in marriage Miss Charlotte Charbonneau, and Dale B. Taylor, both well known Marblemount young people. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Charbonneau of Oakridge, Oregon, former Marblemount residents; and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor of that community.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Guy Morris at 8:00 in the evening before a large gathering of friends and relatives. The bride was attended by Mrs. Ronald Sutton as Matron of Honor and Misses Judy Button of Newhalem and Dianna Wood of Diablo as bridesmaids. Miss Linda Sutton was the flower girl.

The groom was attended by Ronald Sutton as best man. Ushers were Richard Clark and Wally Wenrich.

The bride was gowned in orlon crepe with a lace bodice cut in a Sabrina neckline. Poufs on the skirt were caught by roses to the dress material at the hipline. She wore a chapel train and her illusion veil was held with a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a white orchid with steph notis and she carried a white Bible.

The attendants wore lavendar sheath dresses with net overdress, white shoes and matching cumberbunds. The flower girl was dressed in yellow taffeta. Flowers for the wedding were crescent bouquets of white gladioli with yellow rosebud centers.

The church was decorated in yellow and white gladioli and stock and Arch candelebra with yellow ribbon on the pew. The same color theme was carried out in the reception rooms.

Music for the service included vocal solos by Glenda Morgan and violin solos by Edward Taylor.

A reception followed the ceremony at which Mrs. Ralph Keller and Mrs. Edward Taylor poured; Mrs. Bill Gerrit served the punch and Mrs. Fred Wenrich cut the cake.

Dressed in an olive green suit with white lace blouse, white shoes and purse and white orchid corsage the bride slipped away with her husband for a short honeymoon in eastern Washington. They returned to make their home at Marblemount where Mr. Taylor is employed by the Forest Service.

Both young folks are graduates of Concrete high school with the class of 1960. The bride also graduated from business college in Bellingham this year.

● Truck Overturns On Finney Road

A logging truck driven by Tom Johnson of Johnson Bros. Logging Co. of this city, turned over in an accident on the Finney Creek road Monday. The loaded log truck was rounding a curve when the logs shifted and over balanced the trailer. Truck and trailer rolled over and ended up wheels in the air.

The driver stayed with the truck but suffered only severe bruises and abrasions.

School Busses To Flash Red Light For Stops

A new law has been put into effect concerning school busses and cars on the highways. Under the latest regulation the stop sign and red flashing lamps will be displayed at all times when the bus is receiving or discharging school passengers. Traffic must always proceed with caution when passing or meeting a school bus, but is not required to come to a stop unless the stop sign is out and the red signals are flashing.

Busses will not show the red flashing lights when school passengers do not have to cross a highway and the bus is stopped completely off the roadway; or when the bus is stopped at an intersection or place where traffic is controlled by a signal or traffic officer.

Dove, Pigeon Hunting Opens September 1st

And here we are—right into the fall hunting season! First of the seasons will open Friday, Sept. 1st on mourning doves and band-tailed pigeons. The hunting will be open through September 30th with a daily bag limit of 10 doves, or a total of 20 in possession; and a daily bag or possession limit of eight pigeons.

Last year hunters killed a total of 87,000 pigeons and 298,500 doves.

Pheasant shooting will open in the state on October 15th and run through November 12th. The second half of the split season for east side counties will be November 25 through December 24th. The hunters may take three cocks a day.

Classes To Be Given In Bomb Fallout Survival

Horace W. Ludwig, shop instructor at the high chool, has been named to hold adult education classes this fall in civil defense work. This class is part of a program that will be instituted in all schools throughout the state.

Courses will be given in personal survival and will run twelve full hours over the series. They will stress methods of survival in time of disaster for individuals, families and communities. Materials for the coures will be provided by the federal government, as are funds to support the teaching program.

Intructors will receive their training durng September and the public classes will start in November.

● SCHOOL LUNCH MENU

Wednesday, Sept 6th—Hot beef sandwiches, vegetable, fruit.

Thursday—Navy bean soup, carrot sticks, peanut butter, cobbler.

Friday—Tuna and noodle casserole, spiced beets, fruit.

Ovenell To Serve In Plan Group

Jim Ovenell, local rancher and a former county commissioner and state legislator; and Dave McIntyre, vice president of Skagit Steel and Charles Bingham Jr. of the Bingham Investment Co. in Sedro-Woolley will represent the third district on the newly formed Planning Commission. The appointments were made this week by County Commisioner Brown Wiseman.

Others now ready to serve on the planning commission are Thomas G. Thompson, Arnell Johnson and James H. Hulbert Jr. of the First District and Clyde Shrauger, Elmer Brooks and Herman Anderson of the second district.

The commission has been a controversial subject for several years and had been opposed by the previous board of county commissioners due to their experience with a similar group a number of years ago when a full-time paid planning director was hired and an expensive organization set up for handling county planning.

Recently the change in the board found two commissioners in favor of setting up the planning group under the suggested state code. It provides that the commission 'shall' appoint a director who will hire the necessary personnel. Wiseman had objected to the word 'shall' as indicating that a new branch of the county government would be formed by the commission as additional expense to the taxpayers.

The other commissioners signed the resolution into law over his protest but in his appointments of men to the commission he felt that any attempts to create a wasteful organization would be prevented.

Engagement Revealed

PEGGY HORNBECK

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hornbeck of Cashmere wish to announce the engagement of their daughter Peggy, to Terry Brendu of Leavenworth. A party was given by her mother on Thursday August 24 in her honor with classmates attending. Each guest areceived a corsage with the announcement attached. Peggy, graduate of the "61" class of Cashmere plans to attend Western College of Commerce in Wenatchee this fall and Terry will resume his studies at Central Wash. College of Education in Ellensburg. No date has been set for the wedding.

Last Rites Held For Pioneer Fisherman

Funeral services were held in Bellingham last Friday afternoon for Angus McAulay, 83, father of Mrs. George Nims of this city. Mr. McAulay was a retired commercial fisherman who had fished out of the Bellingham port since the turn of the century. He owned the purse seiner Sunshine for many years and was a member of the Purse Seiners and Boat Owner's Ass'n.

He is survived by his widow, Clara; two daughtrs, Mrs. George Nims of this city and Mrs. Frank Latonen of Bellingham, and a son, Kenneth, of Ferndale. There is also one brother, Philip of Grand River, Nova Scotia; a sister, Mrs. Jessie Christenson of Boston; and three grandchildren.

William Laurent of Rockport and Dorothy Soder of Newhalem were recent patients at the Memorial Hospital in Sedro-Woolley.

C. E. Johns, Olympia Report, Says—

Floating (or Sinking) Brdige Still State Problem

The state's Hood Canal Bridge simply will not stay out of the news. We thought that when it was dedicated on August 12 and opened to traffic, it would start functioning smoothly and that the dollars would roll in to retire the bonds and bolster the sagging state ferry system with which it is financially allied.

But without warning on August 17 a cable snapped from one of the 42 mammoth anchors and as this is written, the engineers still do not know for sure just what occured. We wonder if the gremlins, those mischievous elves who plagued the bombers of World War II, have made the bridge and the depths of Hood Canal their playground.

When the new TBA met last week in an organizational session, Frank E. Bleistein, project engineer for the engineering firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, consulting engineers on the bridge, made a preliminary report in which he said the cable snapped about six feet away from the yoke of a 550-ton anchor. He surmises that the anchor block shifted in settling, and in shifting the block twisted the yoke through which the cable was threaded. The cable then wore thin on the sharp edge of the yoke and snapped.

Gov. Rosellini asked whether, if this happened to the cable attached to one anchor, it could also happen to the 41 other cables attached to similar anchors to hold the floating section of the bridge in place. No ones knows, but the hope is that this will be all the trouble. The thought is disturbing with the storms of winter still ahead.

Anyhow the state has placed $16,000,000 multiple risk insurance on the bridge. It costs a $330,000 premium over a three-year period. It carries a deductible clause of $150,000 which the state must pay. And it provides that should an earthquake shake the bridge apart, the state must pay the first $750,000 of damage.

"An earthquake is all we need now, after the other things that have happened," said one TBA member.

Actually the bridge is declared to be entirely safe for traffic by the engineers on the job. When the cable sagged it only went out of alignment by two inches in 6,000 feet. That was corrected by adjusting the opposing cable on the other side of the drawspan.

And the money is rolling in. From 6 p. m. August 12 to midnight August 20, gross toll income, before expenses was $52,190.82. That is well ahead of debt requirements. There was a slight traffic jam on Saturday, August 19, because the toll collector could not collect the tolls fast enough on westbound traffic to keep the cars moving. The state has corrected that by putting on more toll collectors for the weekend rush period.

Gov. Rosellini came up a day or two ago with an official statement that the general fund deficit was $35,000,000 at the close of the fiscal year on June 30, 1961. He said this is $9,200,000 lower than at the close of the preceding biennium.

"Were it not for the recession and the slow recovery which followed, a much greater reduction in the deficit would have been possible," the governor said.

We had predicted two months ago that when the official figures came out the deficit would be around $32,000,000. We missed it by $3,000,000.

What the governor did not point out was that this General Fund deficit is still more than $5,000,000 higher than when he took over the helm of the ship of state January of 1957. The deficit at that time

Along the Skagit river in these parts, there is a comic opera feud ranging between the 'revenooers' and the 'natives' over salmon fishing. Local fishermen contend that they are being discriminated against by being denied the right to catch a salmon at their door step on hook and line, while at the entrance to the river commercial fishermen catch more in a single night than all the fishermen up here would catch in a whole season. On the other hand the fisheries men feel that a salmon who has escaped the nets and the lures of down-river should be home free when they reach here. There is also a difference of opinion on whether or not it is legal to play a salmon on sports tackle if it is turned loose without being harmed. Big fines are sought for law breakers over the loud protest of those who are hailed into court. The result is a break-down in respect for law on one side and sportsmen on the other. It seems to us that the situation calls for a sensible get-together at a public meeting where all angles can be discussed and a compromise reached that will give local anglers some fishing and still keep the fisheries men happy. To continue the feud merely widens the gap of discontent over a bad law. And bad laws are those that can not be enforced with fairness.

A movie glamor note not often considered by the young ladies who long for stardom, are the tragic ends met by those who find the pace too fast. Fame is no guarantee of happiness, fairy tales to the contrary.

Payson Peterson has stopped running for a moment to take a $10,000 a year government job. A bit less than he was bucking for, but at last he's made the team.

As a Labor Day comment, the present plumber's strike is an example of what can be wrong with power vested in a needed trade. At over $4.00 an hour the wage item deteriorates from a fair return on a man's work to extortion because no one else can do it. What is happening is the same trend that is sending so much employment to other countries. When we can no longer afford to pay unreasonable prices, someone will find another way to do the job. A growing number of high hourly pay men are working fewer hours a year—and wondering why their annual pay is dropping. There is little comfort in being the highest priced unemployed worker in the sign-up line.

Congress is resisting, but not too strongly, the trend to give the president more sweeping powers in all branches of government. Such requests should be met with righteous anger, rather than mild criticism. No man was ever born who could resist using all the power given him. Government is now too far from the people. Dictatorship can be spelled out in many other ways and still become a fact in reality.

Well, Cascade Days finances hit the red side of the ledger, proving that you can give people a good time and they'll love it, but somebody still has to pay the fiddler. Say "thank you" to the Legion, folks.

Large Plane Carries Borate For Fires

A Bell G-2 helicopter, for the first time in the Mt. Baker history, has been stationed at Darrington to help suppress fires on the Mt. Baker National Forest.

This helicopter can reach any area on the forest within an hour with two firefighters equipped and ready for action. In the years prior to the use of aircraft, many days have been spent trying to penetrate the forests in pursuit of wild fires. In many instances it took too long to reach the fire, which resulted in a great deal of acreage burned.

In addition to the helicopter, there is available the services of smokejumpers flying out of Winthrop airport. These lads have had and continue to have a fine record of fire suppression action. They can be dropped on any part of the Mt. Baker within two hours after being called. One of the amazing features about these men is that none of them have ever refused to jump, no matter how difficult the terrain.

In addition to helicopters and smokejumpers, we also have what are called air tankers which are stationed in Wenatchee, Washington. These air tankers (mostly B-25's) carry up to 800 gallons of borate slurry which can be dropped on a fire in one to several loads. They are particularly effective in attacking small fires and at times are credited with making our ground force action successful. Recently one load was dropped at the upper edge of a 35-acre fire near Marblemount, Washington. The fire did not spread any further after the drop was made.

Heard In The Lube Room
Her husband had gone to work so she told her lover that he had nothing to fear. Hardly had the words left her ruby lips when there was a familiar knock on the apartment door. The frightened wife put her boy friend in a trunk to hide.
The husband came rushing in when she opened the door and cried, "I came back when I heard the buildng was on fire, what will we try to save first?"
"Better start with this old trunk over here in the corner," screamed a frantic, hidden voice.

Marblemount Orthopedic Guild Was A Winner

The Marblemount Orthopedic group felt very honored with their award for floats made for the Cascade Days. This year's committee was Mrs. Oliver Clark, and assisting were Mrs. Virgil Shanks and Mrs. Fred Wenrich and a number of ambitious helpers. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lois Andrus.

Marblemount News

By Kay Brokaw

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bahn of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, have been visiting the John Dayos this week. Mrs. Bahn is John's sister.

Of special interest to many in the upper valley is news that Rev. and Mrs. Collins Benfield and family and sister, Flora Clark, from Altamont, N. C. are visiting at the Ed Stafford home. Mr. Benfield helped on construction of the fish hatchery, Clark's store, the school house and the Ed Stafford home about fifteen years ago. He is now a full-time minister of the Methodist Church. Flora, a retired school teacher, had been here only once before, in 1927, visiting the Dolph and Abb Clarks. They called on many friends and relatives here the past week and a family reunion picnic was held in the Rockport State Park in their honor with 71 relatives coming to see them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brokaw drove to Newhalem last Tuesday to see Jarold Wayne Robinson, the new grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Smith .

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Taylor were honeymooning in Eastern Washington, but the honeymoon was not as long as planned as Dale had to return to fight fire.

● BRIDAL SHOWER HERE

Charlotte Charbonneau was the honored guest at a bridal shower Tuesday evening, August 15th, at the home of Mrs. Fred Wenrich. The hostesses were Mrs. Virgil Shanks and Mrs. Wenrich. After the many lovely gifts had been opened refreshments were served to twenty-two guests. The out-of-town guests included Mrs. Orville Charbonneau, the bride's mother of Oakridge, Oregon; Mrs. Ronald Sutton of Mt. Vernon, Mrs. Addie Denny of Sedro-Woolley, Mrs. W. Olson of Rockport and Mrs. Wm. Olson of Van Horn.

Russ and Viola Uttley went to Mercer Island last weekend to the home of their daughter, Francis Newsom, and family.

Mrs. Wm. Thornburg of Edmonds stopped at Sadie's Hotel last Wednesday.

Last Friday Hie Alberts took Sadie Cudworth to Mount Vernon to meet Stephen Hatt of Santa Rosa, California ,to visit with them and his sister, Hazel Tracy, for a week. A trip was taken to various towns down the valley to visit friends.

Among those attending the reception and luncheon in honor of Gov. Rosellini during Cascade Days were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beaumont.

Word was received this week from Jack and Florence Kier that they are enroute to Clinton, New Jersey to a new job. Jack had been working on a dam on the DesMoines river in Iowa since leaving here in March. He is with the Selby Drilling Co. Jack worked as diamond driller on Gorge Dam here for five years.

Mrs. Evelyn Davis, postmaster of Hamilton, and her son, Bill Swettenam of Fort Lewis, were Saturday afternoon callers on Mable Pressentin.

● MEMORIAL PLAQUE

A beautiful plaque in memory of Walter Andrus has just been finished and will be placed in the Marblemount Community Club Hall soon. The 4½x8 inch bronze plaque is mounted on a larger, irregularly shaped rustic plank made from a cedar burl. It will be at the home of Lois Andrus for a short while until placed in the hall.

The Edwyn Withams and James O'Herns returned last week from Ross Lake with marvelous catches of rainbow from 12 inches on up. Many in the catch were 20 inches in length and weighed 3½ lbs.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lytle and daughter were weekend guests at the Fred Wenrich home. They used to live in one of the Sloan cabins and worked at the reload there.

Visiting at the home of Rudy Clark from Aug. 18 to 23 were Mrs. Clark's sister-in-law Mrs. Lee Buller, and son Neil and niece Patty from Eureka, California.

A very interesting evening was spent at the home of Ed and Della Beaumont last Thursday when they showed color slides of many countries in Europe, Egypt and the Holy Land, visited on their trip earlier this year. Ed is an expert photographer and the results were the finest pictures we had seen anywhere. Others present were the Otto and Merv Peterson families, Marguerite Riggs, Mike Scott, Richard Green of Marblemount, the Lowell Petersons and Guy D'Amicos of Concrete, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Richardson of Bellingham nd house guests Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cook and grandson Phil Burris of Oakland, California.

Overnight guests Saturday of Mrs. Mable Pressentin were her son, Bernard, and Rod O'Conner of Bellingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Clark attended a bridal shower given in honor of their daughter, Judy Lee, Sunday at the home of Mrs. Art Morehouse in Seattle. Judy will be married to Richard Stephan Bowen on Sept. 23rd.

[illegible] Hazel Riddell and H. B. Blair of Seattle visited at the Ira Brokaw home Saturday and Sunday.

Flo and Ed Sparks of Seattle called on Sadie Cudworth and Herman Rohde August 23rd.

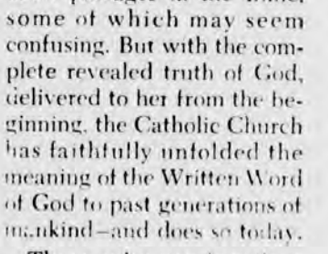
The Bible is a CATHOLIC Book



People differ radically in what they think about the Bible. Some seem to think it was handed down from Heaven written in English and bound in morocco. Many accept it as the inspired Word of God without knowing why they are justified in doing so. And others say that the Bible is full of contradictions and must be taken "with a grain of salt."

A proper understanding of the Scriptures can exert a tremendous influence for good in your personal life. You should, therefore, know where we get the Bible . . . what it means . . . why you can believe its every word.

Nowhere in the Bible text will you find a list of the 73 inspired books of which it is composed. This list was given to the world by the Catholic Church almost three full centuries after the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Between the time of the Crucifixion and the time the Scriptures were gathered into a single Book, millions had received and accepted the teachings of Jesus Christ . and had died without ever seeing the complete Bible.

Established by Jesus Christ Himself and rapidly spread among the nations of the world, the Catholic Church was carrying on Christ's work for the salvation of men some 60 years before the Apostle John wrote his books of the New Testament.

For more than a thousand years afterward, the Scriptures were preserved and circulated by Catholic monks and scholars who laboriously copied the sacred text by hand. And the Bible authorized by the Catholic Church was the first book produced by Gutenberg upon the invention of printing.

Yes, the Bible is truly a Catholic book. They were members of the Catholic Church who, under God's inspiration, wrote the New Testament in its entirety.

It was the Catholic Church which treasured it and gave it to the world in its original and unaltered form. It is the infallible authority of the Catholic Church that always has been the only sure guarantee of its inspiration.

There are obscure and difficult passages in the Bible, some of which may seem confusing. But with the complete revealed truth of God, delivered to her from the beginning, the Catholic Church has faithfully unfolded the meaning of the Written Word of God to past generations of mankind—and does so today.

Those who are familiar with the Bible, as well as those reading it for the first time, will find many important questions concerning it answered in an interesting booklet which we shall send you in a plain wrapper free on request. And nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet No. 3.

OLYMPIA REPORTER

had been whittled down to slightly less than $30,000,000. Also the Rosellini administration has had two tax boosts to bring in first $112,000,000 in new taxes and then another $45,000,000 for the current biennium. However, the $112,000,000 is all you can consider in relation to the $35,000,000 deficit. And if we were making a case for Gov. Rosellini we would say that he has been faced with inescapable increases in costs of education, and he has made great advances in institutional care. These things have to be paid for. In itself the $35,000,000 deficit is not alarming in an operation as large as the State of Washington carries out on all fronts.

In a close 5 to 4 decision, the State Supreme Court has ruled that the State Department of Licenses has a right to suspend a driver's license without a hearing. In one of two dissenting opinions, Judge Hugh J. Rosellini called the License Department "arbitrary and capricious" because it "grants a hearing to some operators before suspending their license; and in other cases, the driver's license is suspended summarily."

"Tyranny through an administrative process is not only conceivable, but actual if the rules do not apply to everyone similarly situated," Judge Rosellini said.

In the other dissenting opinion, Judge Matthew W. Hill said the purpose of such a suspension is primarily punishment, and there is no reason why a hearing should not precede the suspension.

In its majority decision, the high court said it could find no statute requiring a hearing prior to the suspension of a motor vehicle operator's license. The decision noted, however, that state law provides for a review of the license director's order by appeal to the superior court.

A civil defense survey in Olympia shows that only one of more than 5,000 homes in the capital city has adequate protection from medium nuclear fallout in the event of an atomic blast. Austin Johanson, survey supervisor, said about 50 percent of the night time population in the city would die from the effects of a blast in Seattle or Tacoma if wind conditions should bring the fallout south. It sounds terrifying, and is dramatic, but we would suspect the same condition exists in virtually all the cities and towns in the state. It also is controversial as to how much protection shelters would afford if a nuclear bomb were dropped. They would give no protection in the immediate area of the blast, according to authorities.

Johanson said those homes with basements could be fixed up to be safe from medium fallout for $25 a person, or adequate heavy fallout for $75 an individual. If anyone is going to fix up the basement we would think he might as well go for the $75 job.

Speaking of survival, Gov. Rosellini says the state has 4,400,000 pounds of surplus food available in the event of a national emergency. The free federal surplus food is being distributed to needy families in a program authorized by the 1961 Legislature. Rosellini said there are 900,000 pounds in 23 state stores and 3,500,000 pounds in warehouses in Spokane, Selah and Auburn. This stock could be released to aid victims of disaster without necessity of prior authorization from the federal government, Rosellini said. He said civil defense organizations in the 39 counties have been advised that the food would be available for community kitchens to aid victims if a national emergency should develop.

Shorty Made No "Bones" About It

Folks thought it was a big joke when Shorty Johnson came back from Center City with a new St. Bernard for his kids.

And the truth was, Shorty did look kind of funny. The pooch practically filled the whole back seat of Shorty's car, and, when he let it out, it stood darn near as high as Shorty did!

But Shorty didn't mind the ribbing. As he explained, "I know I look pretty silly with a dog like this. But when you've got eight kids like I do, and you get 'em a dog, you get one big enough so they can all play with it at once!"

From where I sit, folks should "size up" a situation before jumping to conclusions. For example, because Shorty likes coffee, I used to feel he'd disapproved when I'd have a glass of beer. But after I got to know him, I realized he was a tolerant man—one who'd never think of challenging his neighbor's right to his own opinions. This attitude is typical of most of the folks in our town—one of the things that makes them so "dog-gone" wonderful!
