FEATHERS
from the Duster

By The Overtime Editor

AN EYE OPENER for the plodder who visualizes the upper valley as just a place to live, is a visit to Cascade Park, the new summer home development on the Cascade River. Sunday's showers provided a good opportunity for a drive so we drove up-river and called on Cal Hendrick and his wife, who are in charge of development.

We have been used to the small, do-it-yourself-on-a-shoestring type of promotion which has been in various stages a different points around here for years, but this is the first time we've seen the zip and zoom a good backlog of money can put into an idea.

Right now there is two miles of graveled road weaving around the carefully platted flat on the banks of the Cascade river. Two hundred and forty one lots on the plat, a number already sold. Now under construction is a river-side picnic area, complete with rest rooms.

The money spent so far is considerable and much more is to be expended before plans are brought to fulfillment. Future projects include getting power and water to all present lots. Opening of a new 2-mile section on the south side of the river, building of a community recreation hall and swimming pool, paving of existing roads and of course, a bridge across the river to tie the two areas together.

It's worth a visit, even if you aren't interested in a lot. The big thing for the valley is the fact that here is imagination backed by the cash necessary to make it real. We have a dozen such opportunities in the valley and its offshoots of unparalleled mountain streams and lakes. The possibilities of Mazama Park, Baker Lake, Finney Creek—to name a few—are limited only by that one catylyst—money.

There is good and bad in such development because no gain in wealth from nature is ever made without taking from it. Many of us would like the valley to remain as it is forever, but there happens to be a little matter of managing to earn enough to stay here. The future seems to lie in making our scenic charm into a bank balance.

EVEN A CONGRESSMAN can get too eager for a news scoop. In last week's issue we took the word of John Neil, Con. Jack Westland's press secretary, about a story of construction work on the Lone Star's Bear Creek power installation. So did most of the other papers in the area. At the time we had a feeling the outline was very familiar, but figured that it was time that perhaps some renewal was in order of the present installations.

After the story is in print the dawn breaks—Lone Star is making their usual application for renewal of their federal power permit. On an installation first built over 50 years ago!

New dam? No, just damn.

"Whaddya doing, Joe?"

Pete's Corner has a new pet—a Mhyna bird who talks, when he does, with a very human accent. Pete brought him home late last Friday and Al Alford failed to get the word. Saturday morning, early, he opened up and started to get the cash register in order. Suddenly a voice behind him said sharply, "Whaddya doing, Joe?"

To Al's credit, he didn't panic completely, but he was the rest of the day getting over it.

The bird looks quite a bit like a crow. He seems generally good natured except for gruffly complaining that "Somebody called me a dirty bird!" It could have been Al.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shope of this city are the parents of this baby girl, born August 20th at Memorial hospital. She weighed 7 lbs. 13½ oz.

Churches To Sponsor Prize Film On Germany

"Question 7," a widely-acclaimed movie about life under Communism in East Germany will be shown in the valley this week. It was shown at Newlahem last night and will be played at Darrington tonight, with a return to be shown here at the high school Friday evening, starting at 8:00.

The film comes laden with honors, having been named best film of the year by the National Board of Review, and also winning two awards at the Berlin Film Festival besides many other citations.

"Question 7" tells the story of life in a small East German town under communism as the leaders try to destroy religious life. The title refers to a questionnaire distributed to students in the schools of east Germany. Only those whose answers show them politically reliable are allowed to pursue the advanced study toward careers of their choice. Thus the questionnaire becomes a test in which each student must choose between the answers he knows to be true and the ones he knows are "favorable."

The film was shot on location in west Germany within sight of the East Zone guard towers and in Berlin before Brandenberg gate.

The film is being sponsored here by the valley churches.

Mt. Baker Hotel Closed For Lack Of Manager

The Mount Baker Hotel, operated here for the past year by Jack and Cathy Olds, was closed last week by owner Don R. Hanaman for lack of someone to run it. The Olds have moved to Burlington to make their home.

Mr. Hannaman is engaged in a trailer-court operation in Idaho. When he was unable to find a new operator last week he closed it up pending selling or leasing.

High Cascade Deer Season Open Saturday

The High Cascade Buck season, which opens this Saturday, Sept. 7 and continues through Sept. 22, is expected to draw many hunters to this area. Some of the best open area is in the high country of Eastern Skagit county and Western Okanogan and Chelan counties, all accessible from the valley.

Grouse season opens the same day to give the prospective deer slayers a bit of camp meat.

● TO MEDICAL SCHOOL

Murray Johnstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Johnstone of this city, left Tuesday to enter Washington University Medical School at St. Louis, Missouri for a 4-year course to follow his pre-med work at U. of W. He has just completed a summer reasearch project there and intends to work toward a medical research career.

Rifle Club Sets Sight-In For Valley Deer Hunters

The Newhalem Rifle and Pistol Club, Newhalem, Rockport, Washington, will hold a sighting-in day for all hunters of the area on September 8, 1963. The club range, located ½ mile west of Newhalem on the main highway, will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Members of the club will be on hand to help hunters properly sight-in their rifles.

The club is offering this opportunity as a public service to hunters in this area as part of a nation-wide program conducted by the National Rifle Association. Hundreds of NRA affiliated clubs through-out the country are taking part in this program.

A correctly sighted-in rifle is an important step to safe and accurate shooting and increases the percentage of clean kills, says Mr. Vance, President of the Newhalem Rifle and Pistol Club. Familiarization firing and knowledge of the point of impact of the gun being used adds enjoyment and safety to the fine sport of shooting.

Detailed information on sighting-in techniques and firing points for zeroing in will be available at the range. Hunters are requested to have all firearms unloaded and actions open when entering the range area.

No fee will be charged. Free coffee will be available at the range.

FENSKE RETIRES

Arthur R. Fenske of Burlington will retire September 1st after 12 years service with Seattle City Light. Fenske is a marine engine mechanic stationed at Newhalem on City Light's Skagit Project.

A native of Shawano, Wisconsin, "Art" owned and operated two garages in Burlington for 20 years prior to joining the Seattle Lighting Department.

After retirement, he and his wife, Gladys, plan to move to their 10-acre ranch south of Burlington. He will do "a lot of fishing," he says, and intends to spend the winter in California with his daughter and son.

Among other City Light employees retiring this month is Harold Kershner, lineman helper. He began work for City Light as a kitchen helper on the Skagit project in 1936 and following promotions in camp work was transferred to Seattle South Service Center in 1944.

Mrs. Marion Patterson Dies At Salem, Oregon

Friends here will be saddened to learn of the passing of Marion Logan Patterson, 85, who died at Salem, Oregon, on the morning of August 30th. Mrs. Patterson had made her home in Concrete for many years before moving to Oregon to be near her son about ten years ago.

Private funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Salem.

Mrs. Patterson and her son, Pat, came to Day Creek in 1911 and two years later moved to this city. She operated a cafe here at one time and in later years made her home on a small farm at the Dalles.

She is survived by her son, A. J. "Pat" Patterson; a grandson Gary, and two granddaughters, Mary and Janet.

City Light Turns Down Road Paving Bid

Seattle City Light last week rejected a bid by Associated Sand & Gravel Co. of Everett for a paving project on the road between Stetatle Creek and the new North Cross-State Highway.

The Everett firm set their price for the three-quarter mile piece of concrete paving at $100,000. The city said their estimate on the job was about half that amount.

The actual bid price was $99,547. The specifications will be readvertised in 1964 in hopes of a better quotation.

Many Accidents Over Holiday

The long Labor Day weekend brought heavy traffic to the upper valley and following the nation-wide pattern, many wrecks and near-wrecks resulted. Of those in the upper valley, the one fatality occured sometime after midnight following Labor Day. In this one-car accident Dallas N. Lee, 25 year old Hamilton man was found lying dead near his wrecked car which had left Highway 16 3.7 miles east of Sedro-Woolley, near Minkler Lake.

State Patrol investigation showed evidence that the boy had gone to sleep while rounding the slow curve. The car rolled over several times before ending up in a creek. The accident was not noticed until about 7:00 in the morning when a passing motorist saw the car in the creek and discoveerd the body lying in the field nearby.

The rash of accidents began last Friday when the driver of a caryall and three passengers were injured when a tractor trailer hit the caryall from behind in a cloud of dust on the Baker Lake road. The accident occured about 4:40 p.m.

Jim Brown of Deming was driving the trailer. In the caryall, driven by Henry Zender, 26, of Bellingham, were Joe Little, 19, of Everson, injured right foot; Francis Cain, 19, Bellingham, injured left arm; and Nick Dubbs, 42, of Lynden, injured left hand and leg. The driver received head cuts.

Near $1,000 damage was done to the caryall.

Saturday a station wagon driven by James F. Hinton, 33 of Oak Harbor failed to make a curve on the Cascade Highway six miles east of Marblemount. The car went off the road, rolling over two and a half times and stopping upside down. The driver was taken to the hospital but released after treatment of minor injuries.

Also on Saturday Edward Wilson, 21, of Rockport was thrown through the windshield of his car when he struck a flatbed truck from the rear. He reported that he was districated for a moment and failed to see the impending crash. His car was totalled out, the truck will need $200 in repairs. Wilson suffered a nosebleed.

Also on Saturday on the Rockport-Darrington road about five miles north of the Suiattle Bridge a Burlington couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Francis suffered bruises and cuts when their 1957 station wagon left the road and rolled over.

Monday two cars went out of control within a few hours of each other on the South Skagit highway near the former Gross place. In one $200 damage was done to a new sedan driven by Edward O. Hopkins, 43 of Marysville. The car left the road and hit a tree. Hopkins was uninjured.

Shortly afterwards another call for wrecker came from the same vicinity when another car went into the ditch on that road. The name of the driver was not available. No one was injured.

LEGION PICNIC SUNDAY

The local American Legion and Auxiliary will hold their annual picnic this Sunday at Horseshoe Cove on Baker Lake. A special meeting of Legion members has been called for tonight (Thursday) to make preparations for the big day.

Entertainment listed on schedule includes water skiing, swimming, kid's sports, and the picnic will feature a salmon barbecue.

Football Team Aiming For First Game Sept. 13

Football got under way at Concrete high school last week with about fifty boys turning out for the 1963 team. The Lions have 10 lettermen back as a nucleus of the starting line-up. Rod Vroman will coach the squad with Claude Wilson as his assistant.

The football meeting set for Newhalem Camp this Friday night has been moved up to tonight and the team will hold a scrimmage Friday evening at the field here.

The first game will be with Mt. Baker here on Sept. 13th. The balance of the schedule is:

Sept. 20—Lynden, there
Sept. 27—Blaine, there
Oct. 4—Stanwood, here
Oct. 11—Lake Stevens, here
Oct. 18—Langley, there
Oct. 25—Sultan, there
Nov. 1—Homecoming, Monroe
Nov. 8—Nooksack, there

School Board Meeting Next Tuesday Evening

A meeting of the school board is set for next Tuesday evening, Sept. 10th. On the agenda will be a report on opening days attendance, report on the handicap program, correspondence from Dr. Chester Babcock whose school survey is set for Sept. 16th; and possible discussion of development of a philosophy for our school system.

The final budget will be up for adoption and there will be an introduction of the subject of a tax-sheltered annuity program for the teachers.

The Student Body had their annual A.S.B. pictures taken Thursday in the high school. These pictures will be on our A.S.B. cards when we buy them for the year of '63-'64.

The annual staff held their first meeting Wednesday noon. It was called so the staff could meet their new advisor, Mr. Smith, and then discussion was held about the future annual.

The football players received their physicals last week as preparation got under way for the new football season.

The G.A.A. held their first turn out Tuesday after school. Those turning out enjoyed a couple of hours swim in the pool.

The halls after school are filled with the quiet yells and running girls as the cheer leaders prepare for the coming football season.

State To Enter Dust Program

The State Pollution Control Board, meeting in regular session in Seattle last Friday, took up the problem of cement dust in the Town of Concrete and devoted over an hour of their time to a review of the situation and a program for correcting the dust fall here.

Mayor Lowell Peterson represented the town during the hearing and gave a history of the town's efforts in the past to end the dust nuisance. He was called to appear mainly due to the council's request for assistance of the Air Polution Control Board and State Health Department in drafting a suitable ordinance to restrain the cement company from permitting excessive dust to escape from the plant.

The action of the council began two years ago when they began a system of monthly checking of dust in various parts of town. The containers are checked by health department laboratories and regular reports made.

As a result of these statistics the Health Department had comprehensive figures and graphs for presentation at the hearing.

Results of the Friday meeting were that the Board will take the problem under their wing and act as a liason agent between the town council and Lone Star Cement in working out the best possible solution for eventual elimination of the dust problem. The first move is expected to be a check of present plans for rebuilding the dust collectors now being used. This is to be done during the normal winter shutdown for repairs.

Air Polution Board members reported that new and better dust elimination equipment is being developed and that systems other than the costly electrical process are now available for complete control of dust.

Mayor Peterson reports that the Ass'n. of Washington Cities, the Health Dept. and Air Polution Board will continue to work out a sample ordinance for control of such dust problems as we have in Concrete.

He further states that he felt the steps taken Friday by acceptance of the problem by the board have set the eventual elimination of dust here ahead several years as this is the first time that the state level regulation board has entered the picture.

Mr. and Mrs. James T. Whitman of Portland, Oregon, announce the birth of a 7 lb.—8 oz. son at the Emmanuel Hospital on September 1st at 12:30 p.m. He has been named Stephen Dwight. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sjoboen of Van Horn.

Sewer Proposal Finds Property Owners Skeptical Of Costs

The question of "do to property owners of Concrete want a sewer system?" remains unanswered. The open meeting sponsored by the Cascade Junior Women's Club last Thursday night drew a fair attendance and the subject was reviewed in detail by moderator Dwelley and Council representatives Rusty Solomon and Martin Spargo, but a show of hands at the conclusion of the session revealed those present about evenly divided to to the value of the project.

Several spoke against the proposal with the main arguments being that the town can not presently afford such an expenditure, due to low property values which make a $4.40 per front foot assessment far above the selling price of the land.

Other arguments were advanced that many home owners, now on pensions, would be unable to meet obligations that would be forced upon them by sewer assessments and monthly charges.

It was generally agreed that the town needs a sewer system. One of the most vehement speakers against a sewer complained of a present unsanitary condition that could be corrected only by such a system.

Individual cost seemed to be the deciding factor in each case. The undecided were withholding their decision pending a definite statement of exact cost to each property owner.

It was brought out that in the case of assessment against large blocks of uninmproved property an assessment would be set by the town council with fair consideration of the owner's problem but that this was an intangible that would have to be determined at a later date.

On the "pro" side were a few from outside the city limits who inquired about being included in the general plan. To this Councilman Spargo said the answer was "no" unless the area was annexed by the town.

While disappointing in a lack of definite trend of feeling, the meeting proved interesting and thought expressed will be reviewed by the council at their meeting this coming Monday. The council has until Sept. 15th to make the final decision on submitting final plans.

Tot to mother, after serious resistance during his first day at kindergarten: "But mother, they were holding me prisoner!"

Be kind to the doers! For every step of progress made in any group, club, community, state or nation there must be someone who goes further than the idea and gets it done. Too often an opposition to the plan is met with abuse of the person sponsoring it. Not the least of the harm is that the person may or may not be personally benefitted yet trying to do a job of civic duty that no one else will accept. Without the doer decay sets in. Not every effort deserves success, but over the years enough spark is engendered by the men who dare to lead that occasionally some good comes of their efforts. This, alone, is worth treating each promotion on its merits rather than who is doing the hard work. Who knows, someday you may need someone to do the pushing on your own pet project.

We don't believe this but we've heard that if the civil rights program is carried to the extreme you will not be permitted a full set of white wall tires. One or more must be black.

The big march on Washington was heartening to many employed there. It demonstrated that facilities are available to evacuate 200,000 people in a matter of a few hours. Nearly all marchers were gone by late evening.

Heard In The Lube Room

A fellow from way back in the hills was making his first visit to the big city. He arrived at the bus station and watched the people use the various vending machines. Then he saw a man go up to an doorman at hotel, give him a paper slip and soon drive off in a fine car. But what really got him was the deal inside the hotel. He saw an old lady step into a tiny closet and disappear behind sliding doors. The machinery was heard buzzing a few minutes and out stepped a beautiful redhead. He wished now that he had brought his wife along.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

Dear Mr. Dwelley:

Thanks so much for sending the paper to us. As you will note there is a change of address. We are trying something different. A different. A different way of life. For 17 years, my husband Roy has drove truck seven days a week and on call 24 hours a day. For 13 years, I have been employed by the telephone company. We began to wonder if there wasn't another way to live and we have found out and it's wonderful. We wrote to the Chamber of Commerce in Gunnison, Colorado and asked about a ranch job, put the house up for sale and here we are at a 700 cow ranch known as the de Compeigne ranches, 15 miles north of Gunnison. Roy works from 7:00 am. to 6:00 p.m. during haying season, otherwise, 7:30 to 5 p.m. and I'M something that is known as a housewife. I cook three meals a day and we have our evening together. This is very big and beautiful country, it dips to the low 30's at night and reaches about 87 degrees in the daytime. They boast of 362 days of sunshine, but haven't told us of the snowfall yet. They did say you feed on hay sleds, 200 bales a day in the winter and they are in the peak of their haying now and it will last for six more weeks at this ranch and they are baling on the average of 2,150 bales a day.

I have wondered about the class of 1945. Did they ever have a class reunion? I suppose a lot have moved away but I notice a lot of familiar names in the paper.

We were hoping to come visit again to the Skagit Valley and renew acquaintances again, but looks now like it will be '64 or '65. So I will just have to keep in touch the best way I know how, through your paper. Your readers.

As Ever

THE RECALL COMMITTEE

To The Editor:

In order to acquaint the voters of School Dist. No. 102 with the thinking and platform of this group of citizens we set forth the following points:

This group, of citizens with the interests of all concerned in mind, have sought through petition to the school board asking that Mr. Barr not be extended another years contract, which would make two years in advance, in an effort to bring some order out of the chaos and dissention within the school.

Upon presentation of a petition with 418 names the contract in question was signed by three board members in executive session within minutes of the actual presentation of said petition.

We felt that the matter was not weighed as carefully as it should have been. That it was, in fact, a shocking example of gross overriding of the wishes of an overwhelming percentage of the voters. For these three board members to be able to glance over this petition and return to the public in minutes with this decision would certainly appear to be a matter that had been decided between them beforehand. That they were definitely not working for the people who had elected them to office.

It was therefore decided after thoughtful deliberation and without malice toward any board member now serving, that a change of board members was of utmost importance—because these five peopel will not or can not work as a unit toward a solution of any serious problem with which they are confronted. That it was decided to initiate a recall of three board members with the retention of two who in their own words "were elected by the people to serve the people to the best of their ability." This is not a reflection upon the three board members personally or individually, but that a stalemate has been reached whereby the board is ineffectual in as much as it cannot act in accord, thereby rendering it incapable of conducting the affairs of the district in an orderly manner as becomes this body.

It takes considerable courage to initiate a recall of any person or persons elected by the people. But it is a means whereby the people can change a condition or circumstance between regular elections. We refer you to the Encyclopedia for further enlightenment on this subject.

One of a series of reports by this newspaper and the Print Advertising Association on the advantages of print media

Don't you read before you buy?

Most people do.

They count on advertising in print to give them the information they want on products that interest them—information on features . . . designs . . . and prices, for example.

People not only read about products and services, they show ads to their family and friends; they clip coupons for information and samples; they tear out ads to take along when they go shopping.

When you add it all up, print advertising—the kind you read in the pages of this newspaper—makes sense.

And because it measures up to the buying habits of most consumers, print makes sales.

Most people read—and then buy. Don't you?
