SEEN AND HEARD ON MAIN STREET

Over the Memorial Day week end, as usual more people were killed on our highways than in any two battles of the Civil War.

Definition
OLD TIMER: One who can remember when Memorial Day was an occasion of reverence, not an opportunity for a trip.

Why go to Indianapolis to see some speedy driving, asks Dad Gummitt? Just stand on our main street any old day.

Definition
OPTIMIST: The guy who parks his car in front of the finance company office.

The Old Timer also is one who can remember when a new rubber-buggy caused a sensation in the village.

It's tough when your wife finds a letter in your pocket that you were supposed to mail. But it's tougher when she finds one you were supposed to burn!

Restaurant Cashier: "What did you have?"
Customer: "I don't know."
Cashier: "Hash is 35 cents."

Oscar Hassenpfeffer wears the trousers at his home, right enough; but right after dinner he puts on an apron over them.

"Bring home some of that traffic jam I've been reading about," his wife phoned him just before he left the office.

There's only one thing worse than trying to shave with a razor with which The Wife has sharpened a pencil, and that is trying to write with the pencil.

Fable
Once upon a time there was a taxi driver who had some change.

Dentist: "You needn't open your mouth any wider. When I pull the tooth I expect to stand outside."

"Sure I like sports," said Lena Genster. "I like those who are free with their money, and know when to say good night and go home."

EXECUTIVE ABILITY: The knack of taking credit for what the organization accomplishes.

A revival service was being held and one of the partners in a fuel concern had joined the church. He tried to get his partner to do likewise.

"I can't do it, John," replied the partner, when his insistence became irksome. "Who'll do the weighin' if I join?"

"Your honor, I'd like to get out of jury duty. I can hear with only one ear."

Judge: "That's all right. We hear only one side of the case at a time."

Little Freddy wants to be a philanthropist when he grows up. "Those people always seem to have lots of money," he said.

A philosopher is a guy who decides that weeds don't make such a bad lawn if they are kept mowed.

A certain editor ran this as a leading editorial. "The business man of this town who is in the habit of hugging his stenographer had better quit, or we will publish his name." The next day 37 business men called at the office, paid their subscriptions a year in advance, left 37 columns of advertising to run indefinitely, and told the editor not to pay any attention to fool stories.

Improved Team Holds Langley In Fine Contest

Locals Lose To Langley In Interesting Game—Play Mt. Vernon Here Sunday.

A new line-up and more strength in the batting order made it's appearance here Sunday against the ball team from Langley. In spite of this, however, the Langley boys were able to eke out a 5 to 2 victory and go home as top team in the Skagit island league. For Concrete it was a moral victory, as for the first time they started hitting and made eight hits to ten for Langley.

Langley scored in the first, second, fourth and sixth inning and each time was aided by an error by the Concrete team. In return an error by Langley aided in a Concrete run.

Outside of these bad spots the game was well played and had the fans on edge a number of times. The new line-up used for the first time Sunday included the following: E. Johnson, pitcher; Frank, catcher; Wiseman, 1b; McDonald, 2b; Thompson, ss; Taylor, 3b; Vier, lf; Whitehair, cf; Voaklander, rf. D. Johnson, the younger brother of Emerald Johnson went into pitchers box in the fifth inning and did a fine job for the rest of the game.

All players on the team are young home-town boys who are playing for love of the game and deserve a lot of credit for their work so far. With more experience and a season or two in the league they are sure to be one of the top teams in the county. Pat Frank takes over the coaching job this week and plans intensive training on both fielding and hitting. Pat is studying to be a coach and will have ample opportunity to try out his knowledge.

Home Game Again
For this Sunday an effort was made to secure a Bellingham team, but no connections were made so Mount Vernon was signed to play here once more.

This contest will be another tough one but will also show the improvement, if any, made in the local team since their last meeting.

The following Sunday Oak Harbor will play here.

LAST RITES FOR MRS. DOYLE SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. William Doyle, who died last Wednesday evening, were held Saturday morning from the Lemley Chapel in Sedro-Woolley. The services were in charge of Rev. J. C. Snowden of this city.

Although a great many were unable to attend the chapel was filled to capacity with sorrowing friends of the young matron and their esteem was expressed in the many beautiful floral offerings that were displayed.

Mrs. Jesse Doyle was born Oct. 27, 1902 at Wainsville, North Carolina. She came to Concrete with her parents in 1918 and since that time made her home here most of following years. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. James Owens, her husband, William Doyle, one son, James and two sisters, Mrs. Frederick Kosa of Seattle and May Lang of Seattle.

An active worker in American Legion Auxiliary circles and other local organizations she was well liked by everyone and will be greatly missed in the community.

MORGAN'S DRUG STORE TO OPEN JUNE 19TH

The new store will be known as Morgan's Drug Store. Mr. Morgan plans to open for business a week from Saturday, or June 19th.

Booster Club To See Game Dept. Movies

Next Tuesday evening June 15, all Booster Club members and upper valley boosters are invited to attend the regular dinner meeting of the Concrete Booster Club. This meeting will be held in the church basement, with supper served by the Ladies Aid.

Of special interest is the entertainment program, which consists of a full-length show of moving pictures taken by the state game department. They show the many different phases of game department work, from fish culture to control of predators. Sportsmen are especially invited to attend.

No reservations are necessary, just be at the church ready for dinner at 7:00 p. m.

Sonud Camp At Rockport Threatened By Big Fire

The first forest fire of the season for this section broke out last week across the river from Rockport, near the Sound Timber company camp and for a time threatened the camp and a number of residences near there. However, after a day or two of fighting the fire was brought under control with little actual damage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Elkins and family have moved to Marblemount where they will spend the summer.

EAGLE OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED AT SEDRO

During the past few months the local Aerie of Eagles, No. 1444 has taken a new lease of life and during that period twenty-nine new members have been received and more classes are planned at each meeting.

Last Tuesday evening new officers for the coming year were installed in a huge meeting held at Sedro-Woolley. Officers from Anacortes and Sedro-Woolley were installed at the same time. The local officers were installed as follows:

Fifteen Years Ago In Concrete

Concrete Herald, June 11, 1922

The city council went on record Monday night as being unanimously in favor of improving the road to Crofoot over during this year, and the street and alley committee was instructed to look after all preliminary details as soon as possible. The work to be done will include the grading of the road the full distance and the road will also be straightened.

By a deal just closed, J. G. Webster has assigned his interest in the printing plant of the Concrete Herald to A. J. Collins, recently from Everett. Mr. Collins has been employed as an operator on the Herald for the past month, and his faith in the future of Concrete and the Herald induced him to take an interest in the business. Mr. Webster has made no plans for the immediate future but expects to remain in Concrete.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Farlow, who recently sold the Superior Hotel, closed a deal this week for the purchase of a half interest in the Olympic Cafe from Chris Polychronis.

A wedding that came as a surprise to their friends in this city was that of Mrs. Julia Parker and George Fulmer, both of this city, which took place in Mount Vernon last Saturday. The bride is a recent arrival in this city from Sedro-Woolley and the groom is the manager of the West Side Grocery and has been a resident here for many years.

Cascade Roads Subject of Talks By Two Groups

Miners Association To Go After Mine Road—County Chamber After Cascade.

Mining men, road men, commissioners and business men from end of the state are hoping the appearance at Anacortes last Wednesday evening for a meeting of the Northwest Prospector's & Miner's Association. The outcome was one of the best meetings of the association so far and a promise of forthcoming action on a program of mine to market roads.

The talks were confined to a discussion of mine-to-market roads and at the close of the four-hour session it was decided to go before the state convention of county commissioners in Yakima late this month and ask support of a plan to start at least one mining road. The plan suggested by Lacey Morrow, state director of highways, is that the state expend $50,000 on such a project, the amount to be matched by federal funds.

Miners and prospectors in this end of the state are hoping for the road from the mouth of Ruby creek to Bacon creek will be designated for this money. Whatcom county is already surveying the proposed road at a cost of $20,000.

The main idea, however, is to unite the miners in a campaign to have the appropriation authorized for some mine-to-market road with hopes that more development will follow.

Speakers heard during the session included Thomas Hill of the state bureau of mines, Senator J. Daily of the senate mines committee, commissioners of Skagit, Ferry, Okanogan, and Snohomish counties, the Whatcom engineer, Supervisor Flory of the Mount Baker national forest and officers of the Miner's association.

Chamber After Cascade

At the monthly meeting of the Skagit chamber of commerce, held last Tuesday night in Sedro-Woolley, the members decided to give the Democrats a chance to see what they can do about getting funds for the Cascade Highway.

Accordingly a new committee was appointed to call on the governor and director of highways to try and get some of the six million dollars in federal roads funds just received by the state. This committee includes John Hurley, La-Conner postmaster; Rep. Fred J. Martin of Rockport; Emil Jech of Sedro-Woolley; Fred DeSilvia of Marblemount and Postmaster C. F. Shrauger of Mount Vernon.

It is hoped that enough money can be secured for the opening of the road at least a few more miles so that it may be used as a mine-to-market road.

Creditors May Open And Operate Concrete Drug Co.

Possibility that the Concrete Drug Co. may soon be in operation again made revealed Monday when creditors of the bankrupt firm met at the office of Walter Martin, referee in bankruptcy in Bellingham to make plans for satisfaction of claims.

The creditors elected Guy Clark, accountant, of Mount Vernon to act as trustee and if possible the store will be placed in operation immediately and operated until a buyer can be found. Inventory of the stock is being taken this week.

Assets of the firm were listed at $6,179, with liabilities of approximately $11,500.

Tax-evasion is the latest New Deal crime. It seems that even if you can legally avoid payment of a few of the hundreds of taxes now being collected, the true and sporting thing to do is pay everything in full and take your chances on getting any of it back. Sitting in on this deal and playing against a stacked deck is all the same.

June, the month of weddings, is getting off to a fine start here. And in order to start each new home in the right manner the Herald plans to send every bride and groom whose marriage is reported in this paper and who will reside in the valley, a year's subscription free. If we fail to get all the weddings, let us know about it.

The county Chamber of Commerce has turned it's Democrats loose of the Cascade Highway proposition. If they can't put it over we'll have pick out a new road.

Now that the state highway department has charge of our highway we will see just how much difference there is between state and county road methods.

Old Swinging Bridge Is Replaced By Modern One

Heavily loaded pack animals will no longer need to walk with "heads bowed and spraddled legs" across the Ruby creek cable bridge. This old bridge, which was built in 1914 by Jake and Ray Stafford of Rockport and a crew of men of the forest service, has been replaced by a solid bridge above the mouth of Ruby creek. The fills and approaches are complete and it is now ready for use.

The end of this pioneer truck road extends from Ruby creek to Camp Comfort, a distance of about three-fourths of a mile.

The old bridge was torn out the latter part of February and was in excellent condition after 23 years of service. It is now replaced by the latest in bridge construction—a 16 foot floating deck for trucks, the safety capacity for which is 60 tons.

Building of the old swinging bridge in 1914 is quite a story. The four cables from which the bridge hung were in inch in diameter, galvanized, and were packed in from Sadie's Hotel at Marblemount by Herman Rohde and his brother Walt in May, 1914. Four mules packed the cable, which was loped on the sides of each if the four as it was too heavy and cumbersome for each mule to carry one of the cables alone.

At this time the trip was made over the hazardous, narrow "goat trail" and Devil's Elbow switch backs, and Old Sourdough, where a mistep would send all the animals hundreds of feet down the mountain into the Skagit. It took two days to go in.

Four turn-buckles, each and inch and a quarter in diameter and five feet long were packed in on the same trip. The holes for these were drilled by hand, as there were no power drills on the job, and the work was long and tedious.

When completed the bridge was 150 feet above the river and the span itself was 70 feet long. It's long service well repaid the efforts expended to build it.

Newly Wedded Couples Given Noisy Charivari

Late Tuesday evening residents of Concrete were raised from sleep by a terrific din caused by auto horns and other noise makers as two newly wedded couples were routed out for a taste of a regular Concrete charivari. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Macrander and Mr. and Mrs. Del Rickner were the victims and were treated to a ride to all parts of town before being made to stand the treats themselves at Bud's.

A caravan of about a dozen cars accompanied the truck as the two couples were shown the town.

WHY PAY RENT WHEN THE SAME MONEY WILL BUY A HOME?

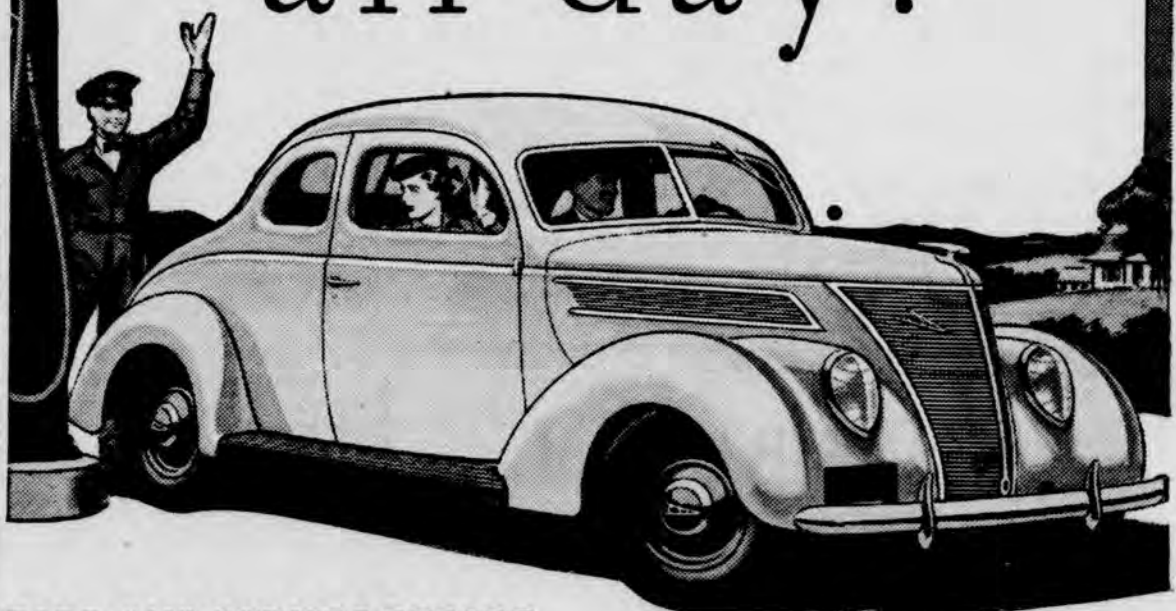

It's hard to believe but under the FHA plan you can turn rent money into a permanent investment in a home of your own. A small down payment or even a lot on which to build is all that is necessary to begin building. From then on your rent money makes the payments. Ask us for details.
