Don't punish your boy for making promises he doesn't intend to keep. He may turn out to be a congressman or senator.

And don't make fun of the boy who believes in Santa Claus. Probably you believe campaign promises.

Advice to Candidates: It isn't necessary to fool all the people all the time—just during the campaign.

Definition

RELATIVE: A fellow who calls you lucky if you succeed, and lazy if you fail.

Percy Whiffletree tried to win Lena Genster by an invitation to ride in his old flivver. But she refused to be shaken.

A Frenchman and an Englishman fought a duel in a dark room. The Englishman, unwilling to take his adversary's life, fired up the chimney, and down came the Frenchman.

Many a father who worked his way through college, is now working his son's way through.

Definition

COLLEGE: A place where young people are taught to want more than they can earn.

Dad Gummit suggests that possibly you don't spank your boy because he is bad, but because he wasn't brought up properly.

He adds that the two greatest aids to virtue are your neighbors and your conscience.

Son (who caught his dad kissing the maid). "Watcha doin' pa, kissin' the maid,"

Pa: "Hurry, son, run and get my glasses. I thought it was your mother."

LIFE IS ALL UPS AND DOWNS —KEEPING APPEARANCES UP AND EXPENSES DOWN.

People are different; some object to a fan dancer, and others to the fan.

When a boy gets too old for his mother to wash his ears and neck they never get a good scrubbing until he falls in love.

One thing about this business of spending ourselves out of the depression—it will provide a never-ending topic for conversation as we sit on the poorhouse porch.

SMART PERSON: One who doesn't know the answers to the intelligence quizz, and doesn't care a whoop.

A LOGGER'S LULLABY

Go to sleep my sugar plum
You are papa's little chum;
Go to sleep and gently rest
(shut your yawp, you little pest)
Close your eyes and keep them thus
(quit that now, you little cuss)
Rockabye, my little man
(wipe them wrinkles off your pan!)
Rockabye till mama comes
(from her lodge of female bums)
Upsie Daisy, oopti-day
(Lord! what makes you drool that way?)
Tuddle up, my sweet and rest
(dammit. Now just see my vest.)
Daddy donna sing a song
(Now then, what the hell is wrong?)
Wanna ride on papa's shoe?
(Whoops. I thought that's what you'd do)
Now I've finished, done, that's all!
Lie there, little brat, and bawl!

Burlington Takes Football Game Here 26 to 0

Tigers Too Much For Lions In First Half, Scoring 20 Points—Harbor Next.

Burlington 26; Concrete 0. The second conference game of this year's football season found the Concrete Lions improved in execution of their plays and better on defensive work, but still lacking in the old punch and fight that usually characterizes the teams from this school.

Used to playing against larger schools and accustomed to being an underdog, past teams usually started the season with more combative spirit than anything else. Saturday, however, it took until the end of the half before the local boys got enough of being pushed around. After the rest period they came back and made it a ball game.

The game opened with Concrete receiving. After a few plays Burlington blocked a punt and then marched straight down the field to score. On the kick-off again Concrete took the ball and made a short gain only be forced to kick once more. This time Doyle blocked another Burlington score by a pass interception and for a few minutes Concrete threatened to tie up the game, but a costly fumble on the 12 yard line saved the day for Burlington.

Coming back in the second quarter Burlington got the best of an exchange of punts and soon was on it's way, this time reaching pay dirt by the aerial route. The try for point was good, making it 13-0. A few minutes later Burlington again had possession of the ball and in four successive first downs made it 19-0 with the extra point adding another to the score.

Just before the half Everett interceped a pass on the 20-yard line to ward off another Burlington score.

Second Half A Battle

After the final Burlington score, which came shortly after the half opened as the result of an intercepted pass and a few plays, the game turned into a real fight.

Concrete began to break up the Burlington plays, dump the backs for losses, and generally take over the role of aggressor. Their only real threat came when quarterback Hornbeck gambled by passing on a fourth down to gain big yardage and put the ball on the 5 yard line. From there another pass put it on the 12. Campbell took it to the 8 yd.—and then Doyle faded back to pass and was smothered by the entire Burlington line.

There they held Burlington to no gain and took the kick on their own 31 yard line. Another march was started only to have Burlington intercept a pass.

With Burlington fighting for another score, Deb Everett came up with a Burlington pass on the 15 yard line—his second interception in the danger zone. Game ended with the ball again in Burlington's hands with 25 yards to go.

Coach Wiseman's boys showed considerable improvement and it appears that some of the material is going to be noticed in the next few games. Doyle and Tingley did a nice job of kicking, Campbell showed up as an elusive ball carrier, Hornbeck as usual proved the hardest fighting man on the field, while Harold Thompson displayed a coolness in passing that reminded of his all-county cousin of last year. The line was weak in spots, but Everett, Jack Hoover, Wainright and Wilson stood out on defense.

Oak Harbor Game

Saturday the boys have a chance to break in the win column with a game at Oak Harbor, a school of a similar size. With more equal opponents the team will get an opportunity to perfect their plays and defense before taking on the next Class A team, Mt. Vernon.

Mrs. Walter Bacon of Juneau, Alaska, is making a visit of two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Lorentzen, and other relatives in this city.

No News On Gymnasium Grant

On the day of the special election on the proposition of a ten-mill levy for a new school gymnasium, a letter was received from PWA authorities asking that results of the election be sent to them by telegraph. This was taken to mean that they were much interested in the project.

Since that time there has been no indication as to what action, if any, has been taken on the project and no promises have been made as to when a grant will be made.

So, at the present time the district awaits word from Washington before making arrangements for bids and other details preliminary to letting the contracts. Congressman Wallgren has offered his assistance in securing quick action on the part of PWA, so definite word of some time is expected in the near future.

HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION AFTER MINING ROAD

Further plans for securing a mine-to-market road project to extend the present Cascade highway was the order of business at a meeting of officers and members of the Cascade-Cross State Highway Association, held at the Green Lantern on Tuesday evening.

Reports were heard on the progress made so far and another delegation appointed to meet with the county commissioners next week to prepare the project for submitting to the highway department.

The plan is to have a pioneer, line-of-least-resistatnce, road built up the valley to Gilbert's cabin. Such a road would open this rich mining territory for development and make the permanent highway more necessary.

The commissioners have agreed to sponsor the project, but maps, estimates and data must be prepared in order to lay the proposition before higher officials for state and federal aid.

Jimmy Simon Receives Sentence To Reformatory

James "Jimmy" Simon, formerly newspaper agent for this city and well known up the valley, plead guilty to a bigamy charge in the superior court last week and was sentenced to not more than five years in the Monroe reformatory.

Simon's first wife started divorce proceedings after their separation but never completed them. Believing that he had been divorced Jimmy took another wife and found himself with one too many.

FIRST AID CLASSES TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

First aid training for every employe being part of the safety program at Superior Portland Cement, Inc., James Westfield, first aid instructor of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, will be in Concrete next week to conduct classes.

The meeting place will be the lodge room of the I.O.O.F. hall, where two classes will be held each day, one during the late afternoon and the other in the evening. A full course of first aid training from simple bandages to treatment of broken bones and more difficult first aid problems will be covered during the week, after which each person taking the course should be capable of taking care of almost any accidental injury that could happen about the cement plant.

While classes are conducted on behalf of the plant safety committee, there is nothing to prevent outsiders from joining, and Boy Scouts or other interested persons are invited to take the course. Further details may be obtained at the Superior office.

Pressentin-Crinklaw

Coming as a pleasant surprise to their many friends here was the announcement of the marriage of Miss Mildred Pressentin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pressentin of Grasmere to Fred Crinklaw of this city. The ceremony was performed in Mount Vernon Saturday, September 24th.

The City of Wenatchee, "apple capital of the world," uses bus tokens with the centers cut out in the form of an apple.

This novel advertising idea is carried still further by naming the busses Delicious, Jonathan, Winesap, etc.

The idea has attracted newspaper attention all over the country.

Washington will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary of statehood next year. A statewide Golden Jubilee will call national attention to the state's growth and development.

Washington was admitted to the Union on November 11, 1889. It was the forty-second state. It was organized as a territory in 1853. Isaac I. Stevens was the first governor.

School Boy Patrol Is Started Here

Sponsored by the local Cement Workers Union, and cooperating with the local police, the highway patrol and the schools, a Schoolboy Patrol has been set up here and is now functioning at all regular school crossings.

The main objective of the patrol is to protect the school children in crossing the streets. When the crossings are occupied by children the boy on patrol stops all traffic until the crossing is clear. At other times his flag serves as a "slow" warning to motorists.

As the boys work under the direction of the police, they are in fact police officers and may report all violators to the officers. In the near future the boys will be furnished uniforms and raincoats for winter use.

Members of the patrol at this time are Billy Harris, Dudley Ross, Gilbert Martin, Fred Bianchini, Bert Harris, Charlie McGovern, Larry Johnson, Stuart Reynolds, Francis Willett, Harry Jafferies, Donald Johnston, Armond Bianchini, George Clinchard, Gale Jensen, George George, Lester Elkins.

These patrols have been very effective in preventing accidents in school zones all over the state.

WAGNER RECOVERING FROM SEVERE STROKE

C. L. Wagner, vice president of Superior Portland Cement, Inc. here, was recovering this week from effects of a stroke Saturday in Seattle. Mr. Wagner had been in poor health for some time, but had been apparently improving.

The stroke partially paralyzed his body and left him unable to speak. However, this week he had regained his speech and paralysis was gradually leaving him.

The employees and officers of the plant were greatly shocked by the news of his attack, but with his many friends are much relieved by the news of his recovery.

Busy Bee Demonstration Club Elects New Officers

The Busy Bee Home Demonstration club met in the club rooms Tuesday afternoon. New officers were elected for the coming year as follows: Mrs. John Bitonti, president; Mrs. C. P. Cunningham, vice-president; and Mrs. Carl Heritage, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Riley Crooks underwent an operation in the Rowley Hospital in Mount Vernon the latter part of the week and is now reported to be recovering rapidly.

Hunting Season Opens Sunday With Big Game

Deer, Bear, Duck, Pheasant Shooting Start In October Hunters Ready To Go.

The month all the sportsmen of the state have been waiting for—October—arrives on Saturday and with it's arrival the deer hunters will take the trail to open the big game season bright and early Sunday morning, October 2nd.

Bear season also opens October 1st and will run until December 31. Deer season closes Oct. 23rd. The limit is one bear and one buck deer with branch antlers. The only exception is on Whibdy island, where either a doe or buck may be killed.

Where to go has been a popular subject for the past month. Due to the opening of formerly closed areas in this section, a great number of hunters are expected to visit the upper valley. Local hunters who are sold on the hunting east of the mountains will make their trips, several parties leaving within the next few days.

The Ruby basin seems to be the most popular hunting ground for those expecting to come here. This area was formerly a game preserve and is said to be full of game.

Regulations this year require the usual big game seal, hunting license, fire permit, and in addition, a way to get your deer out after it has been killed. Maurice Splane, game protector, will be stationed at Ruby Creek this year to see that hunters observe these regulations and also to check the deer brought out of that section. To make it easy for the hunters to get their deer out, Rocky Wilson, Marblemount packer, left this week for Ruby with his pack train which will be available both for packing in supplies and packing meat out.

Camp meat for the hungry hunters is granted in an open season on Blue Grouse the first three days of deer season, Oct. 2-3-4.

Bird Shooting Follows

While the big game season is still under way the shotgun experts will begin their fun October 15th with duck shooting, which will continue until November 28th. The following day, October 16, the jump-date season on Chinese pheasants, Hungarians and Quail begins. These open dates are Oct. 16, 22, 23, 29, 30; Nov. 5, 6, 12 and 13.

Open House At School Still A Few Weeks Away

The date for Open House at the grade school has not yet been set, as there are still several minor details to be completed. Factories complain that they can not make delivery because they received a rush of orders from schools all over the country during the summer months.

It appears probable that it will be the middle of October before every detail can be completed ,at which time a date for everyone to visit the school will be announced.

Contractor On Washington Hill Job Moves To Site

Actual construction work on the re-building of the Washington Hill road above Rockport will start in the next few days. Equipment for the job was moved in Tuesday by Halloran Bros., Seattle contractors, who received the $53,000 job when bids were opened recently.

The contractors have set up their office in the Frank Shields home, a short distance from the project.

Firemen To Open Winter Dance Series Next Week

Concrete's Volunteer Fire Dept. will again make an effort to boost their treasury through the method of their popular dances. The first of the winter series will be held at the Legion Hall next Friday evening, October 7th. Music for the occasion will be furnished by Al Widekamp and his orchestra.

Employment is at a high peak once more at Grand Coulee Dam and this condition is reflected here in cement shipments. This in turn means steady employment here and should spread a little money about town. For some reason or other business has taken quite a slump in the past few months. We hope it can come back up enough so that we can be ready for the railroad strike, or whatever it is that is ready to swat us next. We get used to being knocked down, but if they don't give us a chance to get back on our feet, one of these times a few of us are not going to ever be able to.

How much of the present fuss in Europe may reach the history books of the next generation we do not know, but the thrill of being able to hear such personages as Hitler, Mussolini, Chamberlain and others deliver their pleas or ultimatums in this great crisis is something new. No longer are historic speeches made within the walls of conference rooms, or confined to the range of the orator's voice. The whole world is given a ringside seat by radio and if you are not listening in you are missing a wonderful opportunity.

Now that the School Boy Patrol has taken over the job of seeing that your children cross the highway in safety, the town marshals are relieved of one task. But don't make the mistake of trying to bluff these "kids" by disregarding their signals—we have just acquired them as an addition to the law enforcement squad.

Sunday opens the deer hunting season. And like all our other pleasures, some of us will let recklessness bring sorrow. The murderous speeder, the careless and excitable hunter are alike. A little common sense does not add any weight to your pack and is a handy thing to take along.

We hope that sample of rain this evening is not the kind we are to have from now on, even though it would take a month or so of it to catch up on our usual allotment.

The saying "history repeats itself" was especially true of the football game Saturday. Just fifteen years ago Burlington defeated Concrete 26-0.

While everything may turn out for the best—don't let anyone sell you a map of Europe for a few days anyway.

Let a man wear a funny hat and others respect his choice. Let a woman wear one and all go her one better.

Fifteen Years Ago In Concrete

Concrete Herald, Sept. 23, 1923

Every official and clerk employed in the Skagit county court house passed a worried day Wednesday, and if mistakes crept into their work they were excusable. Everybody was scared and the slightest noise was liable to cause someone to make a jump for the nearest exit. A box containing 100 pounds of high test dynamite had been found in the court house that morning, and no one knew how it got there, and all feared a black-hand plot to blow up the building. It all started early Wednesday morning when Lee Wright, a surveyor employed by the county engineer, went to get his instruments to start his day's work. He kept his tools in a small closet between the court house coal bin and the inner wall of the county jail, the door of which was kept locked. Thursday morning the mystery was solved and the impending tragedy developed into a joke. The explosive had been placed in the court house thru a mistake of a delivery man for the Lindberg Bros. store. There has not been so much excitement among the politicians in Mt. Vernon since the last time the state went democratic.

The Concrete school football team put up a hard battle at Burlington last Friday afternoon, but were beaten, 26 to 0. Hobart Wiseman, the Burlington coach, had promised that the local lads, who were playing their first game, would be opposed by a team of about the same weight and ages, but when the teams lined up it was found that the Burlington crew out-weighed the Concrete team 20 pounds to the man. The Burlington huskies rushed the lighter lads off their feet in the first quarter and scored two touchdowns, they added one more in the second and the third quarter, but were held scoreless in the last quarter and the Concrete boys were beginning to gain ground on heir heavier opponents. However, they expected to get beat owing to their inexperience, and they did well to hold Burlington to four touchdowns.

HOMECOMING DANCE

The annual "Homecoming" for the Alumni, given by the students of Concrete high school was again heralded as a success when it was held in the gymnasium last Friday night. An evening of dancing was enjoyed to music by the White Jackets orchestra. During the intermission a program was presented at which Leonard Hornbeck, student body president, gave a speech of welcome and announced that the 1938 class had the largest number of members present and awarded them a prize. Ray Barta responded to the welcome and as representative of the Alumni. A group of songs sung by Shirley Thompson, Clarice and Barbara Heeck as a trio proved very good. Brown Wiseman then concluded the program by introducing the football squad for the year.
