

VOLUME XXXXIII

CONCRETE, SKAGIT COUNTY, WASHINGTON, APRIL 8, 1954.

NUMBER 14

THIS AND THAT

By H. L. D.

In the change-over from regular phones to dial, Concrete was lucky not to have a prefix added to the numbers. We did gain one number but you should hear the people in Mount Vernon and Anacortes kick about their prefixes. Seems Anacortes now has to dial CYPRESS and a number before their regular phone numbers. Of course, they are only to dial the first three letters but a lot of people got mixed up and dialed the whole word. The same thing happened in Mount Vernon where they have Edgewater for a prefix.

A new X-Ray program is being worked out all over the county to try and get a chest X-ray of every person over the ages of 15 in an effort to find unknown cases of TB in this district. The program will get under way April 28th, and is sponsored by the county health department, the Tuberculosis League, the county commissioners and the county medical society. In Island county, program just completed, it was estimated that over 90% took the X-rays.

Bellingham has been having a rash of pock-marked and broken windows and windshields this past few weeks. No arrests have been made and it is not even known how it is being done, although the name of "the BB gang" has been given to whoever is implicated. In some instances the marks have appeared while the car owners were present with no sound of gunfire to give a clue. Bellingham reports $12,000 in glass damage and the Lynden and Sumas paper this week carried stories that the "gang" had visited their cities and Blaine and Ferndale, leaving more broken windshields in their wake.

Up in Sumas and Lynden they have a good start toward giving the young folks a sense of responsibility as far as driving is concerned. They have regular "Hot Rod" clubs. Their by-laws adopt state and local traffic laws and penalties are assessed against all members who fail to observe them. Police officers report that negligent driving has decreased sharply since the clubs were organized. We noticed that when a road block was put out to try and capture the "BB" gang at Lynden, the Hot Rod Club worked with the police. Seems like a good idea.

The influenza attack that has hit all the lower valley schools so bad has been lighter in the Concrete district. About 25% of the enrollment of the Sedro-Woolley schools were out at one time; about 20% in Mount Vernon and over 20% in Burlington. The attack was not of a serious nature, the students being missing two or three days at the most, so no effort was made to close any of the schools.

New Daughter For Howards

Pamela Maria arrived to brighten the Wayne Howard home just at midnight April 5 and will call that her birthday. She was born in the Memorial hospital in Sedro-Woolley, weighing over 5 lbs. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Howard are paternal grandparents.

Catherine Ann Crinklaw Arrives
Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Crinklaw are welcoming their first child this week, a daughter, Catherine Ann. She was born Sunday evening at the Memorial hospital and weighed 7 pounds, 7 oz. Mrs. Helen Crinklaw is the paternal grandmother.

Old Time Dance

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are planning an old time dance for their members on Saturday evening, April 17th. It will be held in their hall and a pot luck will be served during the evening.

Seal Drive Totals

A final report on the 1953 Christmas seal sale has been made, listing the total for the county at $7,489.45. Of this amount Concrete contributed $350.30; Rockport $84 and Marblemount, $74.10. Mrs. H. E. Queen was local chairman, Mrs. Eva Olson at Rockport and Mrs. George Briggs, Jr. at Marblemount.

Call Bidson New Road

Wm. A. Bugge, director of highway for the state highway commission, announced this week that on April 20th bids would be opened on the long awaited highway project known to the upper valley as the Rockport Hill road.

According to Mr. Bugge, plans call for clearing, draining, grading and paving about 2 1/2 miles of state highway 17-A. The project will involve about 37 acres of clearing, 166,550 cubic yards of common excavation, 12,040 cubic yards of solid rock excavation, 20,800 tons of selected roadway borrow, 7,870 tons of crushed stone surfacing, 97 tons of asphalt cement and various other items.

Cost of the project is expected to total about $325,000. Completion is set for this summer.

The new road will be on an entirely new location and will eliminate the sharp curves and steep grades now existing along this section of highway. The new highway is to be of modern construction for its type. Lanes will be 11 feet wide with 8 foot shoulders on each side. Foundations will be built strong enough to carry the types of heavy vehicles operating over it and asphalt surfacing will be used to protect the roadway from water, to give it dust free riding surface and to protect the foundation.

The new road marks another step toward the improvement of 17-A to modern standards. Mr. Bugge states that it is the intention of his department to build a new section on 17-A whenever money becomes available, so that within a period of years there will be a new highway all the way up the Skagit river.

Mt. Baker Church Ladies To Entertain Visitors

The ladies of the Mount Baker Presbyterian church will be hostesses to visiting groups of ladies from churches in Sedro-Woolley, Bellingham, Ferndale, Lynden, and Mount Vernon on Tuesday, April 13. The meeting will be held in the local church and begins promptly at 10:00 a.m.

Special musical and vocal numbers will be furnished by visiting groups. Featured speakers for the day will be Mrs. Helen Miller of Seattle, recently returned with her husband from missionary translation work on the border of Tibet. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were the principal personalities of the movie film entitled "High Calling" which was shown here at the church about a year ago. Also on the program for the day will be Miss Helen Ho, a Chinese lady who with two companions were forced to flee from the Communists this past fall in China. Miss Ho, a teacher in the China Bible Seminary in Shanghai, came to America a few years ago for further schooling and graduated from Ashbury college in one year, receiving her degree from there. She has been closely associated with the Chinese doctor, Dr. Grace Wu, who was chosen by Mayo brothers clinic for a year of free medical training and who also had to flee China. Luncheon will be served by the ladies of the Mount Baker church. All ladies of the community are cordially invited to attend.

Garden Club Postponed

The Upper Skagit Garden club has postponed their next meeting until April 21st so that Mrs. Lamp of Arlington could attend. Mrs. Lamp is well known for her flower arranging and judging and will instruct the members at the meeting.

It will be a luncheon meeting starting at 12:30 and will be held at the Legion Auxiliary room. The Sedro-Woolley garden club members have been invited and have accepted.

Grasmere Club

Next Grasmere Club meeting will be at the home of Beatrice Arnold on May 4th.

The Grasmere Club ladies are meeting at the gym on Tuesday, April 20 to paint the new kitchen. It will be pot luck and the ladies are to be at the gym by 10:00 a.m.

Rockport Woods Cleared For Road

This photo of the right-of-way clearing in the Rockport woods was taken looking east from the Stow logging road on the west side of the park. The present highway intersects this clearing about the center of this picture.

Looking eastward again, this time from the top of the Rockport hill, you can see the logged off alignment of the highway as it will take off around the hillside to pass on the north side of the town of Rockport.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Finden and children spent the week end with Mr. Finden's parents in Bremerton.

Those enjoying the dinner and decorated cake were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Roller, John West and twin sons of Concrete, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Griffiths, Jr. and four sons of Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Breive and son Peter and Joannie Roller of Seattle.

Phillips-Jensen Wedding Sunday

Miss Anna Marie Jensen and David Swift Phillips culminated a high school romance Sunday when they were married by Rev. Richard Riffe at the manse of the Mt. Baker church here. The ceremony was witnessed by a wedding party of relatives and close friends. They left after the ceremony for a brief honeymoon and returned Wednesday to make their home at the Soloman apartments on Main St. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christian E. Jensen of this city and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Phillips, long time residents of this community. Both young folks are graduates of Concrete high and were members of the class of 1953. Their many friends are wishing them every happiness.

Takes Over Log Truck Operation For Baker Sale

A new business venture in Concrete was reported this week in the news that Tom Wright, former mayor and well known truck operator, has taken over the Dickinson & Sons logging trucks and will operate them in the future in connection with the logging in the Sulphur Creek area in the next five years. Mr. Wright has taken over the old Concrete Motor Freight warehouse for the shop on his operations.

There is about 40 million feet of timber to come out of the Sulphur Creek-Scriber's Meadows sale area. Seven million has been set as the amount to be logged this year.

Pete Mazis Dies Of Heart Attack

Pete Antoni Mazis, resident of this community for the past thirty-five years, was found dead at his home here last Friday noon when neighbors became alarmed at his failure to appear that morning. His death was judged due to a heart attack and he had been treating for this condition for some time.

Mr. Mazis came to this country from his native Greece in 1906. He came to Concrete about 1918 to go to work for Superior Portland Cement, Inc. He was employed at the Quarry through most of the years.

Pete Mazis was born December 25, 1888 in Greece. He is survived by a brother, Harry of Seattle, and another brother, George, still living in the old country. There are numerous nieces and nephews. Funeral services were held at the Lemley chapel in Sedro-Woolley Monday with Rev. Harry Govolis of Seattle conducting. Burial was made in the cemetery there.

Darrington Man Takes Final Swing At Woman

Ray White, 27 year old Darrington man, was sentenced to 10 years in the Monroe reformatory by the superior court this week after he had violated his probation in regard to assaulting Mrs. Jean Galbraith of Sauk Prairie. He was arrested March 28th for striking Mrs. Galbraith and this was the third time he has been jailed on the same charge.

In his recent probation he was warned to stay away from the Darrington-Sauk Prairie area. He failed to heed the court's warning and got into another fight with Mrs. Galbraith. It was one time too many.

Fishing Lakes Open In Upper Skagit April 25

Booklets describing the 1954 trout fishing regulations were out last week and are now being studied by the anglers of the valley in regard to opening of fishing on April 25th.

Listed for opening on that date are Everett Lake, Vogler Lake, Lake Sixteen, Big Lake, Caskey Lake, Day Lake, Minkler Lake, Lake Shannon, and Texas Ponds in this area of Skagit county, and Baker Lake and Baker Lake Ponds in Whatcom county.

The opening of Grandy will be delayed once more until May 16th, when all other waters will be open for fishing.

Only closed waters in this area will be Grandy Creek. On Ross Lake, which opens June 27th, a long list of closures are noted.

ROCKPORT NEWS

Fern LaFleur was visiting the George Moores Thursday evening.

Charles Moore spent the week end visiting at Anacortes.

Mrs. Betty Garling of Wickersham and Mrs. Alice Lamb were visiting at the Mary McLeod home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Stafford and Mrs. Tom Runnels were Saturday evening guests at the Clarence Worley home.

Town Lists Snow Cost

The Town of Concrete's street work for the first three months of the year has taken just over half of budgeted street funds for 1954. This was the word passed out to the council at their regular meeting Monday night by Gordon McGovern, chairman of the street and alley committee.

The street fund at the start of the year had a total of $8,550 in the two categories of material and labor. When the bills were paid on recent graveling the balance left to operate the street department for the rest of the year was $4,300.

About half of the expenditures so far, Councilman Gordy explained went for snow removal. The record snowfall here cost the town just about $2,000 for bulldozers, graders, trucks and labor in opening the streets for use. If the state highway crew had not cleared the Main street the cost would have been almost doubled.

On the good side of the ledger, however, the balance of expenditure was the best investment the town has made in years—graveling of almost every street in town with specially crushed fine material. In this the street department took full advantage of the county's offer to sell gravel from the crusher on the south Skagit while it is in operation.

In a joint venture the town and county graveled the approaches to Main street (Cedar St. and Superior Ave.) from the Dalles bridge highway. From there on the town purchased $1,000 worth of gravel for use on other streets.

Donation of the use of several trucks by Anacortes Veneer added in a quick distribution of the gravel over town. As a result the town got an excellent street job at a very low cost.

Bills for labor came to $759.50; gasoline and oil $310.00 and $150.00 went for repair to the town's equipment during the busy period.

Unless some unforeseen emergency arises the street work for the remainder of the year will be mostly grading and smaller projects.

Rebekah District Meet To Be At Friday Harbor

The 104th Semi-Annual meeting of District No. 10, comprising all Rebekah Lodges in San Juan, Island and Skagit counties will be held in Friday Harbor on Saturday, April 24th. The ferry will leave Anacortes at 10:00 in the morning and will leave Friday Harbor at 1:30 in the evening on the return.

Rebekah Lodge No. 316 will be hostess and will also do the degree work during the evening. District president is Edith Murdock of Anacortes. Angele Cupples of Concrete is secretary.

Several assembly officers have expressed their intentions of being present at the District Meeting. A wonderful trip is planned and a large attendance is expected. Local members wishing to go should contact Helen Crinklaw.

High School Plans Open House Next Wednesday

Concrete high school will hold its annual "Open House" on next Wednesday evening, April 14th, between the hours of 7:30 and 9:30. The open house will consist of exhibits and displays of work and equipment throughout the various classrooms. All interested are invited to attend.

LEGION AIRS

The next meeting of the Legion Auxiliary will be April 14th.

The Girl's State registrations were filled before the Concrete Auxiliary got their registrations in so they can not send any girls this year. The registrations usually close on April 1 but their quota was filled by March 26. Only 325 girls can go so Concrete was too late. We are all very sorry about this but perhaps some of the girls signed up will not be able to go and we can get our girls in.

Maybe we are becoming a bit cynical about the future, but in our daily study of the news we note a very definite pattern of statements, news releases and other integrated items that slant a sickening conclusion—we are getting ready for war in Indo China. The public must always be built-up to these things until some sudden violent act makes them believe that war is the only alternative. We are now sending planes and supplies, observers, non-combatant technicians. A stray bullet could make it seem necessary that we also send our young men to battle again for another Korea-stalemate slaughter. Mothers and fathers in America should have a word to say at this time as to their wishes in the matter. It's not too early but soon it may be too late.

We of the upper valley are caught in a rather awkward position when advocating use of cement on all new highways. Our own new construction is so much on the pioneer side that we can't insist on permanent construction without waiting extra years for each new project. So we do it the hard way, build now, hope for permanent roads in later years. The state is also on the losing side as the cost of maintenance will soon equal the extra cost that would be necessary to do the original job with concrete.

A man who has had several states that actresses make the poorest wives. For most of them matrimony is more of a road show proposition in which they can try to make a lot of men happy instead of playing to the same old house years on end.

A calm appraisal of the accomplishments of the McCarthy committee reveals that the senator may have had good intentions, but he became so confused in his aims that all he managed to do was wave the bull at the red flag.

Modern life is a continual emergency in which you can either fight or ride with the blows. Happiest are those who are too busy to recognize what a mess scientific progress can make of a human race.

They are now getting the H-Bomb into mass production. About time to tell 'em that the thing isn't going to have much of a demand from the public.

Price supports are beginning to slip. Pretty soon a shopper can pay what a product is worth and know he isn't being taxed to keep it out of his reach.

New telephones are being made in a variety of different colors. You can get them to match your desk, room or disposition.

A California church deacon decided in favor of cleanliness instead of godliness. He "cleaned" his pals of $400,000.

One thing that can be said of the natives of this valley, they don't dissolve easily from dampness.

One thing the politicians never want to tax is the voters memory, especially in election year.

This is the land of opportunity. So many ways to make a dollar, so few to keep it.

Read First Sign Later

Mr. and Mrs. Burt signed a contract agreeing to purchase a cook stove from a transient salesman. He told them that when the stove was delivered they could examine it and if they did not like it, they could return it and not pay any more.

After the stove was delivered they found it did not fit their needs and offered to return it. The offer was refused by the seller and a suit was filed against Mr. and Mrs. Burt for the full price of the stove.

Read Small Print

They then consulted their lawyer and were correctly informed that they had signed an unconditional promise to pay and that the seller was not bound by the oral statement of a salesman. Such a rule is just and necessary to avoid disputed questions of fact and to prevent fraud.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt could have avoided this predicament if they had read carefully and understood the contract before they signed it, and if they had made certain that all of the agreement between them and the salesman had been put down in black and white.

WASHINGTON HISTORY

The mail route from Panama to Astoria was extended in 1853 to Fort Steilacoom and Olympia on Puget Sound. Recipients of this news were wondering if it would come by land or by sea.

In 1850, before Washington had become a separate territory from Oregon, the governorship of this vast territory had been tendered to Abraham Lincoln. Most of Lincoln's biographers have felt that Mrs. Lincoln was reluctant to go to Oregon and that was the reason for his refusal.

TULAREMIA

Tularemia is a disease of wild animals that is transmissible to man. While it hasn't been a great problem in this state, it continues to be a nuisance.

Wild rabbits and other rodents are a usual source of this disease. Handling the infected animal may provide the germ an entrance to the body through a break in the skin. Infected fingers may carry the germ to the eye or the mouth. Eating poorly cooked infected rabbit meat may produce the disease.

In this state, they have been reports of the disease occurring as a result of other sources, however. The wood tick and dog tick, both of which feed on rodents, are known to carry this disease to mankind. A person, who was investigating a magpie nest, apparently was infected by the contamination brought by the birds eating of infected rodents. Even the deer fly has been known to first bite an infected animal and then bite a human, thus transferring the disease.

The onset of this disease is very often like an influenza attack. There is a marked fever which subsides for a day or so, and then rises again. The second rise in temperature lasts about two weeks.

In the area where the germ was introduced, the kernels or glands are swollen and tender. If the germ gets into the human body through the skin of the hand, these kernels will show up at the elbow joint and under the arm. If the introduction is in the eye, the glands in the neck become affected.

Hunters, farmers, butchers and campers are most likely to get tularemia. The housewife who prepares wild rabbit for eating is, of course, susceptible. Thorough cooking of the meat of an infected animal will kill the germ and thus remove the contamination.

The physician has several tests which can be made to determine if the human has tularemia. Because this disease may resemble other disease conditions, depending on how the germs enter the body, the doctor may not suspect tularemia unless he knows about the possibility.

It will help him to know if the ill person has been handling wild rabbits or has recently eaten wild rabbit meat. He should be told if the patient has recently been bitten by a deer fly or a tick. The handling of such material as the magpie's nest is unusual, but an important point in considering the possible source of the disease.

This information is important because it is the unusual. Tularemia exists in the state of Washington. If the right diagnosis is made, the right remedy is available. Where rabbits, squirrels and other rodents are most plentiful, there tularemia may eventually occur.

How Did Cashup Davis Get His Name?

James E. Davis was the pioneer hotel man on the route between Walla Walla and Spokane. Pleasant, plump, bald and friendly, Davis was an innkeeper his guests found hard to forget.

They particularly remembered his habit of walk nup to a store counter and announcing that he would pay "cash-up" for any purchase he was planning to make. He was nicknamed Cashup Davis, and most people hardly knew he had any other name.

Davis was finally put out of business when the railroad by-passed his hotel and store. He then changed his kind of hotel keeping, bought land on top of Steptoe Butte and built a three story resort hotel where his guests could see the Inland Empire for miles around.

The road through the bunch-grass wilderness was too long, dusty and steep. The country was too young and the tourists too few. In a little while Davis was broke.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Easy Does It—Again!

Ladies Aid Society had their rummage sale the other night—and as soon as the doors opened, "Easy" Roberts was inside.

Without a word, he headed straight for the coat counter, picked out a shabby old tweed jacket, and paid for it. "Easy" told me a little later that buying his jacket back was getting to be a regular habit.

"That's been my favorite smoking jacket for years," he said. "And my wife talks me into giving it away regularly. Then I get to thinking how much I like it and hurry down to buy that jacket back. This is the third time I've done it!"

From where I sit, everyone's entitled to his own likes—whether it's a sports jacket, a baseball team, or the beverage he likes for dinner. For example, the wife likes coffee along with Saturday night spaghetti while I like a glass of beer. We never try to "sell" each other on our personal preferences.

Discovery that the "silent deep" is not silent after all forms the basis for a scientific film, "Voice of the Deep," to be shown at the Mt. Baker Presbyterian Church Monday, April 12, at 8:00 p. m. Public invited to attend.

Contrary to the age-old belief that there is no sound under the sea, "Voice of the Deep" reveals that fish have a definite language of their own. Their aquatic conversations in the film resemble the peculiar quacks, grunts, whistles and clucks of a barnyard. A congregation of snapping shrimp will sound like a crackling forest fire, while a school of Chesapeake Bay croakers was once mistaken for an invasion of enemy ships.

This is the first time that fish sounds have been recorded in a film, according to Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, producers of "Voice of the Deep." A special Moody representative will show the film here.

To achieve the unusual scenes in "Voice of the Deep," a scientific expedition was sent out from Los Angeles to the coast of southern California. Delicate sounding devices were used to determine where to tune in the hydrophone, underwater microphone, to find the most noisy fish. Then a diver was lowered into the sea with a specially outfitted camera.

Thirty minutes of colorful marine drama were the result. To climax the film, preacher-scientist Irwin A. Moon links the new discovery to man's need of God. "For centuries man could not hear fish sounds because he did not have the proper equipment," Dr. Moon declares in a short review of the scientific principles behind underwater sound. "But now that the hydrophone has been invented, we know our previous conclusions were wrong."

"The same is true of the spiritual world," he adds. "Some people do not believe that a spiritual world exists, but only because they are not properly equipped to recognize it. Faith in God provides us with the key to the spiritual world, just as the hydrophone gives us the key to the underwater world."

"Voice of the Deep" is one of a series of sound-color films being produced by Moody Bible Institute in an effort to link science and religion. Two previous productions, "God of the Atom" and "God of Creation," have been shown to four million people in schools, army camps and hospitals. Plans are also being made to distribute them abroad.

CHUCKLES

"Good afternoon, sir," said the commercial traveler to the man who answered the door, "are you the husband?"

"Well," answered the man, "if I'm not, I'm having sure a having a wonderful time with the lady who lives here."

Pat was staggering home after visiting the local night spots, and was having quite a time to make it from post to post down the street. In the process his friend Mike spied him and at once remarked, "Well, Pat, I see you've had a little too much again."

Pat stiffened up and replied with dignity: "I'll let you know I never get too much. I'm just having trouble gettin' the darn stuff home."
