

FEATHERS

from the Duster

By The Overtime Editor

AN EDITOR'S LIFE is usually an interesting one because the paper is a clearing house for everything that goes on. In our case, sometimes we feel that we attract incidents like honey does a bee. When the unusual is happening we manage to be right in the middle of it.

Such was the case in the two big storms of the weekend. The Sunday blow found us and our Skagit County Guests on the lift at Diablo. The wind hit through the narrow roadway to the dam at a vicious clip as women shrieked and kids howled under the force of coarse sand being pelted on unprotected legs, arms and necks. The force of the blowing sand cut into tender skins, swirled into eyes and ears. The short walk was enough torture for the timid, but the ordeal continued as the boat blew up the lake in the spray-filled tail wind to Ross powerhouse. There, out of the storm water the tour party was deluged in the heavy rain that ended the brief storm. On the way back the sun came out and it was again wonderful summer weather.

After a muggy day Monday at the office the thought of a dip in Baker Lake lured us up there for the evening. A nice swim in warm waters put us off guard. Prepared for an evening's fishing we had just dropped anchor across the lake when a quick look to the south told us that the freshening breeze was prelude to storm. Up came 130 feet of anchor rope and the boat rode an ever increasing series of swells as we hit for shelter at Peterson's cabin. Pete arrived to check his boat just as we reached the dock.

Our timing was perfect. In a very few minutes the storm hit with full force. First it was just wind of a journeyman-Baker Lake variety, but it increased past credulity. Soon the lake was smooth as a floor and huge patches of water lifted up and blew like dust before the gale. As the tempo rose, the sky began to flicker like a defective neon tube. Then all fury cut loose. Lightning bolts began stabbing at the hills on all sides, the roar of thunder was about equal to the roar of the wind and hail the size of peas began pounding at the windows of the cabin. At this point the low clouds were swirling in circles over the cove and the spray on the flat water also whirled in circles as if to form a waterspout at any moment. In front of the cabin streams poured down hill and just above the ground spray from the lake went uphill like water from a fire hose. The plywood cabin on Pete's boat was torn loose and dumped into the water, the fences swayed and the float strained at the cables.

For a time the cabin shook from both wind and thunder and hail was almost strong enough to break the window panes. At least we expected it and moved things away just in case. The open doors, through which we watched the storm develop, now had to be closed as the wind in its frantic whirl now blew water over us.

Though the windows we watched the center of the storm move up the lake and brighter sky take its place. Lightning continued to strike brilliantly along the ridges and did so for several hours before quieting the forests to their original stillness.

We all thoroughly enjoyed the spectacle, even though there were a few moments when it appeared that we might have trouble. For a relaxing evening of swimming and fishing, the outcome certainly was not anticipated. As we noted above, things happen to us. And we would not have wanted to miss this one.

NEW CHS PRINCIPAL

EDMUND PREUSCHOFF

E. G. Preuschoff, who will be the new high school principal, moved to this city from Othello last week and with his family has now settled in the Dale Shular residence in West Concrete.

Skagit Guests See Baker Lake, Valley to Ross Dam

The upper Skagit valley was displayed in everything from sun and white clouds to a hurricane-type storm on Sunday for Mrs. Ted Karstadt and daughter Marsha, and her sister, Mrs. Patricia Brooks, who are guests of Skagit County Chambers of Commerce this week.

Mrs. Karstadt won the trip during the Seattle Center promotion a month ago and the party arrived in the county Saturday noon to be guests of Mount Vernon and attend the Skagit County Fair.

Chamber of Commerce manager Gene Hopkins delivered the party at Concrete Sunday morning at 9:00 and the local chamber of commerce organization was represented by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dwelley, who provided their transportation for a look at the scenery of this area.

The tour included a visit to the high school on a drive around town. Then the visitors were taken to Baker Lake where they were shown the Upper Baker dam and the lake as far up as Tarr's Resort. There a coffee break was planned followed by a speed boat ride around the lake in Mr. Tarr's runabout. On the ride the Seattle ladies had the extra thrill of seeing a bear along the lake shore. Earlier they had been able to visit with a deer from their car windows. A movie record of their trip was made with a camera which will follow them all through their week's visit in the county.

At 2:30 in the afternoon they were at Newhalem to join a regular City Light tour of the upper Skagit dams. The trip was enlivened by the sudden, violent storm which they said made it more interesting.

After the visit to Ross dam, the guests were taken by car for a trip to Bradley's Resort, then on the North Cross-State Highway to the new forest camp on Thunder arm. Mrs. Karstadt and family closed the day with arrival at the Skagit Motel in Sedro-Woolley where they were to be greeted by that C. of C. on Monday.

The visitors had never been in this area before and were much impressed by the scenery. They intend to return within a week or two for an outing at one of the lake resorts.

Charles Krotzer's To Hold Reception Saturday

A wedding reception for Charles and Dorothy Krotzer, who were married here last Friday, will be held this Saturday evening from 8:00 o'clock on, at the Eagles Hall. All friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Krotzer were married last Friday evening at the home of the bride by Justice of the Peace George George. Present for the services were relatives and close friends.

Former Paper Owner Visits

Mrs. H. J. Bratlie, who with her late husband once owned and operated the Concrete Herald, was a visitor in town last week. They were operating the paper here in 1914 when it burned. Later, after several editors had come and gone, the present owner paid off the last of the Bratlie interests.

ALL TEACHERS SECURED, BUDGET SURPLUS WILL PROVIDE WAGE RAISES

The school board meeting Tuesday evening cleared away the final details for opening of classes here on August 26th. Mrs. Sally Wilson was hired as high school English instructor and Mrs. Shirley Olson decided to again take the third grade at the Concrete grade school. This complete the faculty for the district.

The board also signed the contract with Edward Preuschoff, new high school principal, and passed out salary raises of $150 each to Mr. Stobben, Mr. Todd and Mr. Wilson. Mrs. Kay Stafford, who works in the school lunch program, was given a $220 yearly raise to compensate for extra duties.

The remedial reading program of last year will be again carried on by Mrs. Margaret Stadman. She will devote one-half day to library and the balance to special teaching. The program will start with 6th grade students. Last year there were four or five in each class benefiting from the instruction.

It was reported that a fee is now required for Driver Training in the school and Supt. Barr stated that fees in other schools ran from a low of $5 per student to a high of $15. As much as $30 was charged for students taking the course out of school hours. The board decided that the fee should be as low as possible and set it at $1.

Budget Adjusted Upward

Receipts during the past month added to the school's cash balance so that as of July 1st, with all obligations paid the district had over $12,000 in the clear.

Receipts included $455.55 from federal funds for vocational home economics classes; $198.33 from Title V-A funds; $329.71 from Whatcom county for non-high pupils; and $6,377.55 from City Light for transportation of students.

The extra money was worked into the budget with salary raises and other funds benefitting.

Longest discussion was on the swimming pool program. In answer to queries it was reported that cost of operating the pool in connection with the school on a 9-months basis would run around $17.00 per year.

Due to objections to the plan of a special levy election, the election was cancelled and will not be held.

Trail Bike Club Works On Thunder Creek Path

Foresters and conservationists who frown on motorcycles and two-wheel trail machines in the national forest were given another side to the picture last week when the Centaur Clubs of Skagit, Snohomish, Everett and Bellingham camped at Colonial Creek on Diablo Lake and, under the direction of U. S. Forest Service Trail Foreman Al Brown, worked over the first six miles of the Thunder Creek trail.

The Centaurs, 28 of them, put the trail in excellent condition by brushing it out, removing all logs and doing some heavy tread rebuilding.

The project was under supervision of the Marblemount Ranger District, of which C. W. Dannel is district ranger.

The club plans on more work in cooperation with the Forest Service in rebuilding trails that may be used by trail machines. A number of the most popular trails are now closed to motorized travel and the club hopes by their efforts, to convince the powers that be that trail machines are safe in the forests and worthy of more consideration as a means of getting more people into the high mountain recreation areas.

KEEP KIDS AWAY

Frequent warnings are issued to parents to see that their children stay out of the cement plant, the rock storage and the railroad track area due to danger of injury. Now it seems that a popular playground is the plant parking lot. Still dangerous and some mischief has been reported. Keep them away.

ART PRIZES AT FAIR

Mrs. Jackie Orr, daughter of Mrs. Charles Tasker of this city, was a winner in the art section at the Skagit County Fair last week. Her pencil drawings took a first prize and she was awarded a second place for her oil painting, "Boston Basin."

School Registration Now Open For New Students

If you haven't, or are reluctant to look at a calendar lately, it's time for school again. Not right this minute, but the date is August 26th, which is a week from next Monday.

With this formal announcement comes the usual preliminary bulletins.

New students and those wishing to change schedules for the opening term will find principals Preuschoff of the high school and Boulton of the grade school in their respective offices starting tomorrow to take care of these details.

Kindergarten pupils can register with Mr. Boulton.

The teachers will report for duty on Thursday, August 22nd and will hold their annual get-together and school barbecue. On Friday there will be a work day to get ready for classes.

School will resume on Monday morning, August 26th.

To Wed Walter Parker

REBA SNYDER

Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder of Rockport announce the engagement of their daughter, Reba, to Walter Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker of Route 3, Sedro-Woolley. Reba is a 1963 graduate of Concrete high school.

The wedding date has been set for August 23rd.

Jim Boyd Home

Jim Boyd returned home Friday from the Veteran's Hospital in Seattle where he had been receiving medical care for several weeks.

The worst thing about owning a home is that you can't enjoy August sun without worrying about the September rains.

Special Levy Election On Pool Funds Cancelled Due To Dispute

A special election for consideration of a one-mill levy for operation of the swimming pool at the high school was cancelled Tuesday evening when opposition to the wording of the resolution was voiced by the members of the Summer Recreation Committee. They stated in a letter to the school board that they objected to one paragraph of Resolution 86 which read: "Whereas, the pool facilities will be open to all persons in the Concrete school district and Newhalem and Diablo free of charge."

As a committee they favored continuing a charge of some kind for use of the pool regardless of the money obtained from a special levy. In a prepared 10-point statement Tuesday evening at the board meeting, the committee argued that free use of the pool would tend to discourage any future attempts to expand or alter the program due to the public's tendency to "abuse what is free."

The suggested a fully outlined plan, listing such things as locker fee, transportation financing, and eventual covering of the pool.

As a result of the objections, and after a discussion the board voted to cancel the special election and hold the subject over until some later date when a more specific program can be worked out.

Members of the Summer Recreation Committee are Rev. T. H. Sipe, Barbara Bianchini and Tomys Ellenberger of Concrete, Dave Wright of Birdsview, Florence Pressentin of Rockport, Barbara Witham and Beverly Stanley of Marblemount, Artis Hawkins of Finney Creek, and Hugh Barr as school representative.

Gale Winds, Lightning Give Valley Double Shot

After two violent lightning and wind storms, one on Sunday and the other on Monday, the valley foresters were still today trying to assess the possible damage. At press time yesterday skies still had not cleared sufficiently to say that there were no serious fires, but the indication is that due to the heavy rains that accompanied the storms there will be little or no fire loss.

Marblemount had three fires set in the Skagit district by Sunday's storm. All are now out and were of little consequence. They know Monday's lightning strikes ran into the hundreds and they have their crews standing by ready to answer any calls. Wednesday's clearing of skies momentarily gave lookouts and fire patrol planes a chance to survey the forests and no smokes were found.

On the Baker District one fire was reported Sunday and three on Monday. All were single tree lightning strikes and all were out in short order.

Both districts are now sweating out the "sleepers" that sometimes smolder until hot weather sets the sparks into action.

The storm Sunday was the same one which closed down the Seafair Hydro Races. It roared across the valley and into Canada on winds up to 50 miles per hour. It lasted less than an hour but in that time did considerable damage to power lines and trees, shutting off power in the valley in several areas. Heavy rain accompanied the wind and lightning.

Monday evening a repeat of the same sort of storm hit across the valley again a little later in the day. This time winds were higher in velocity, lightning more intense and rain and hail of heavy volume in a short time. Marblemount ranger district reported a rainfall of 1.9 inches in the short period during which the storm was in the area.

Considerable damage was done at the state fisheries installation on Baker Lake where the winds tore up the shading screens on the fish holding pond.

To Enter High School

Mr. Joe Zanga and Mr. Cugini met Ricky Loop Monday morning at the Seattle airport and the Zangas brought him up to stay with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaia Cugini, and attend high school here. Ricky has been in Libya, Africa visiting his mother, Mrs. Dave Horne.

DECEMBER WEDDING

Bonita Temple Frank Yeager

A late December wedding is being planned by Franklin J. Yeager and Bonita Louise Temple, whose engagement was announced this week by Mr. and Mrs. Bon Temple of Birdsview. Franklin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Yeager of Sedro-Woolley.

Franklin graduated from Concrete high school in 1958 and then spent four years in the navy. He is now working in Mount Vernon. Bonita is a senior at Concrete high.

CUPPLES FIRE

The William Cupples home was badly damaged by a fire on July 31st when a blaze was discovered on the roof next to the chimney. Before the flames could be controlled much of the roof and the upper story of the building was gutted. The rest of the house suffered smoke and water damage and will have to be completely renovated.

Time for school again. The kids who have spent the summer educating their parents will go back for their own refresher course.

Welcome please, a wide, smooth and delightful addition to our upper valley highways—the new bit of the North Cross-State road just completed on Diablo Lake. A match for any piece of highway anywhere up the valley from Sedro-Woolley, except for the fact that does not yet have a complete oil job. Well done!

The decision to cancel the one-mill levy election possibly saved the district from suffering its first defeat in requests for special millage. Not for the reason that the voters would be against free swimming lessons, but because of a hurried and awkward presentation of a possible solution to the swimming program's finances. We believe that if there is to be a levy for the operation of the pool it must be offered free to all the children and students, but more correctly it should be operated as a part of the school athletic and physical education set-up with just possibly a carryover into the summer months for public use. This, of course, can only be accomplished when and if the pool is roofed for year-around use. We do not think a swim program need cover nine months of the school year at great expense, but should be worked in as a physical education class. In such a way it would provide almost every student with a worthwhile and enjoyable outlet for energy and go far toward promoting physical fitness among the non-athletes. An unwieldy joining of school and private supervision is not a satisfactory answer. The pool was built with public money by the school to, presumably, be operated in connection with the school. The original plan is still the best and if there is any further promotion for extra funds it should be for those needed to make it useable during the school term. After that summer programs for the public can be handled in a different manner with those making use of it carrying a share of the cost. Until then chaos is the only logical conclusion.

The seven million dollar theft of old beat-up paper money in England has the bank-stick-up cheapies in this country looking sheepish. It's one thing to get it in crisp bundles from a bank, but even dirty money in sufficient quantity, cancels out points for neatness.

If you are not your brother's keeper, you soon will be. There are now 180,800 persons in this state who are employed by federal, state or local government. One in every six of us and doesn't count the military!

Train Hits Log Truck At Grasmere Crossing

About 4:30 yesterday afternoon a Cunningham Logging truck, loaded with logs, failed to make it across the tracks at the Thompson Blacksmith Shop at Grasmere and was clipped by the Great Northern diesel engine. The logs were knocked helter-skelter but little damage was done to the truck. The front end of the diesel was smashed in with several hundred dollars estimated damage. The train was still able to operate.

The driver said he did not see the train as he came off highway and older Monday night, August 16 toward the track and was on them before he knew he was in trouble. He attempted to pull across rather than stop and try to back away, but lacked a second or two of making it. The train was sounding its whistle and bell when approaching the crossing. It did not have time to brake down to a stop.

PERSONAL ITEMS

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Newhalem, August 13, 1963
Concrete Herald
To The Editor:

Subject: High School Accreditation.

The highest accrediting agency in this area of the United States is The Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools. This organization is one of six cooperative associations which cover the entire country. The headquarters are in Washington D. C. Each organization respects the accreditation of the other.

Almost all of the better High Schools, Jr. Colleges, Colleges, and Universities in the nation are accredited by one of these six organizations, although it is not necessarily implied that a school is inferior if it does not belong. The greatest good stems from participation in self-evaluation, even if prestige were not a factor (which, admittedly it is—for all, including the faculty and students.)

In order to become a member of the Northwest Association, it is necessary to meet certain minimum requirements as set forth in the Twelve Basic Standards of the Association. Recommendations are stated in addition to the requirements.

If the newly applying school is within reasonable reach of meeting the standards, it is given a provisional membership in which it has three years to satisfactorily complete the very comprehensive SELF EVALUATIVE CRITERIA (a 376 page checklist). An evaluation team then visits the school to make an appraisal of the self evaluation.

After final approval and acceptance is granted, continuing reports are required every subsequent year and the school is either re-approved, advised, warned or dropped.

In the State of Washington there are 170 high schools accredited by the Northwest Association plus 7 new members in the process of being accredited. Although in last year's report, 40 of these schools were "advised" and 8 were warned, none was dropped.

Among the High Schools that are members of the N. W. A. in our section of the State are: All of the Seattle High Schools, Bellevue, Mercer Island, Kirkland, Bothell, Edmonds, Everett, Marysville, Snohomish, Lake Stevens, Monroe, Oak Harbor (provisional), Anacortes, Arlington, Mount Vernon, Burlington, Sedro-Woolley, Bellingham, and Lynden. If Concrete were admitted, it would have the honor of being in the top 25 percent of all schools of 250 or less student enrollment. The Northwest Association for Secondary and Higher Schools is entirely voluntary and does not selling. The decision for application rests entirely in the hands of the patrons of the district, the administration, and the local School Board if and when the time is ripe.

Basic Standard No. 7 of the N.W.A. states in part: "...the harmony and cooperation...of the patrons of the school...are paramount factors in distinguishing the good high school. Therefore, only schools which rate well in these particulars SHALL be considered eligible for consideration."

When the PEOPLE are ready, I'm sure that the rest of the way will be clear.

Jack F. Roper
